APPEAL FOR NEW TRIAL

Verdict WAS Against Men
Charged With Conspiracy at Harrisburg

Maximum Penalty is Two Years'
Imprisonment and Fine
Of $1,000.

Harrisburg, Pa., March 14.—The jury in the first of the capitol conspiracy cases to be tried gave a verdict of guilty as to every one of the four men who have been on trial here for the last seven weeks last night. There were two ballots taken, but the jury did not come into court until two hours after reaching a conclusion.

The maximum penalty for each defendant in this case is two years imprisonment and $1,000 fine.

The cases are the outcome of an investigation conducted by a commission of the legislature which began probing the capitol contracts a little more than a year ago. Prosecutions were entered in 32 cases last September and seven cases in January.

Of the four defendants only Sanderson and Snyder were in court when the verdict was rendered. Mathews had gone home and Shumaker remained at his hotel. Sanderson, with his hands folded across his cane, dropped his head as the verdict was pronounced.

With one verdict of guilty recorded against them on the charge of conspiracy to defraud the state in the trimming of the new capitol, former Auditor Snyder, former State Treasurer Mathews, and former Building Superintendent Shumaker, within 10 days, will have to go on trial on another alleged grafting charge. Their appeal from last night's verdict will not be allowed to stand in the way of further prosecutions. They were admitted to bail pending the appeal.

John H. Sanderson, capitol contractor, found guilty last night with ex-state officers, does not figure in the next charge.

Of the Elder Mrs.
Thaw Said to be

Struggle to Save Son's

Trouble in Family Over the Proposed Settlement With Evelyn.

New York, March 14.—Mrs. William Thaw, mother of Harry K. Thaw, has finally broken down under the intense strain of fighting for her son's life. A dispatch from Pittsburgh said that Mrs. Thaw has suffered total paralysis of her left arm and that her relatives are greatly concerned about her condition. The patient has been ordered to Florida by her physician, and Mrs. Thaw will leave Pittsburgh at once.

In that city it is declared that Mrs. Thaw will probably never return to Pittsburgh. Lyndhurst, her handsome country home, has been practically dismantled, and Mrs. Thaw has completed arrangements for permanent location elsewhere.

Pittsburgh advices also say that there is trouble among the members of the Thaw family over the matter of providing a settlement for Mrs. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw. There is no disposition on the part of the Thaw heirs to provide for the future comfort of the young Mrs. Thaw out of their funds, and the prospect is that the elder Mrs. Thaw and Harry will have to stand the expense between them. As the announced settlement, $50,000 cash and an annuity of $15,000, represents a total investment of $350,000, it will be seen that the figure is no inconsiderable sum. Moreover, when the fact is taken into consideration that the trials cost the Thaw family $500,000, the disposition of the Thaw heirs to revolt is not regarded as remarkable.

There was a story in circulation yesterday that the plan to ask for an annulment of the marriage was arranged before the beginning of the second trial, and that it was at that time that the price to be paid young Mrs. Thaw was agreed upon.

Denial of his insanity at the time of his marriage was expressed in legal form by Harry Kendall Thaw in the service of an answer upon his wife, Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, at her residence. Thaw's answer is as follows: "The defendant, Harry K. Thaw, by A. Russell Peabody, his attorney, answering the complaint of the plaintiff herein, alleges:

"That he denies on information and belief the allegations contained in Part 2 of the plaintiff's complaint. "Wherefore, the defendant, Harry K. Thaw, demands judgment against the plaintiff, with costs."

The answer is signed by Mr. Peabody.

No further proceedings will be necessary in the action now until the trial is moved.

There was an intimation on the part of the Thaws the other day that they might ask to have the matter disposed of by a referee, which would include closed hearings.

Don O'Reilly declared, however, that he would insist on the case being disposed of publicly.

HIGH SCHOOL GIRL ELOPES

INFORMS PARENTS SHE INTEND-

FRIENDS.

Instead Sends Telegram from Zanesville Informing Them of Her Marriage.

Miss Hazel C. Gordon, aged 18, a pretty and popular senior in the Newark High school, and Mr. Carl Burch, the son of a Dresden undertaker, eloped and were married in Zanesville Friday evening.

Miss Gordon left her home yesterday morning with the statement that she was going to school and would take luncheon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Johnson, residing at 76 1-2 West Main street. She also expected, so she said, to be late in getting home as she would have some extra duties in the laboratory at the school. This was the last seen of the young woman.

Mrs. Gordon, becoming suspicious, telephoned to the Johnson home and found that her daughter had not been there. Later she called up the High school building and was informed that her daughter had not been in school. By this time the mother of the young woman was becoming much alarmed. She received no word, however, until 7 o'clock Friday evening, when a telegram from her daughter in Zanesville, apprised her of the wedding and begged forgiveness. As yet the parents have not become reconciled to the loss of their daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon reside in North Newark, at the corner of Prior avenue and Stevens street. Mr. Gordon is a popular B. & O. yard conductor. Their daughter has known young Burch for the past two years and they were said to have been opposed to the marriage because of their desire to see their daughter finish her school before getting married.

Young Burch is said to be a highly respected young man of Dresden, where he is an assistant to his father in the undertaking business. He called upon Miss Gordon last Thursday and at that time, so it is said, her suit case was packed with some of her clothing and carried to a nearby grocery where they got in last evening.

The couple will make their home in Dresden. Mr. Burch is a cornetist and played with the Buckeye Lake Band and Orchestra at the resort last summer.

GORDON-BURCH.

Zanesville, O., March 14.—The marriage of Miss Hazel C. Gordon of Newark, and Mr. Carl Burch, a furniture dealer of Dresden, was solemnized Friday, March 13, at 1:30 o'clock at the parsonage of the South street M. E. church with the Rev. E. A. Hargy officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. Burch will reside in Dresden where they will be at home to hosts of friends.

Millersburg, March 14.—Dr. John G. Bigham, aged 72, a retired physician, died at the sanitarium here yesterday morning. He was operated on last week. He was a surgeon in the 68th regiment Ohio volunteers in the Civil war, and at the time of his death a member of the pension examining board here.

ENCAMPED AT FOOT OF MOUNT EREBUS

Christchurch, New Zealand, March 14.—The barkentine Nimrod has returned here from the south. She is the vessel that early in January sailed from New Zealand with Lieutenant Shackleton's Antarctic expedition on board. She brings a tale of dissensions in the exploring party.

It seems that Lieutenant Shackleton attempted to take charge of the ship one day when she was in a dangerous position. This was resented by Captain England, sailing master of the Nimrod, who promptly knocked the lieutenant down.

The Nimrod left the Shackleton party encamped at the foot of Mount Erebus, a point they reached with considerable difficulty on account of the ice.

On account of the trouble on board, Captain England has resigned, and the Nimrod will return for the Shackleton party in December without him. It has been necessary to give up the extensive magnetic surveys that the Nimrod was going to make in Antarctic waters.

about a week ago, paying her rent in advance. She was reticent regarding her reasons for being in the city, but conducted herself in a ladylike manner about the place.

The child is pretty and healthful in appearance, and while the occurrence is to be regretted, popular feeling and pity prevail for the mother under the distressing circumstances.

DISTRESSING CASE

FOUND BY WELL KNOWN PHYSI-CIAN IN THE WEST END OF THE CITY.

Young Woman Gives Birth to Child
While Neglected and Alone—
Should be Looked After.

A remarkable case developed in West Newark Friday afternoon, when a well known local physician received a summons to the house, where he found, on arriving, that a young woman of a well to do Licking county family had become a mother.

The young woman received no attention from the matron of the boarding house, where she had been staying for the past week under an assumed name, and the physician was only secured by the neighbors.

One physician was sent for, but as he could not be found, another was called. He found, on his arrival, that the most revolting conditions existed, as the young woman had received no attention from anyone. The doctor himself refused the aid of the matron, who declared that her boarding house had been disgraced by the occurrence and demanded that the mother, of only a few minutes, be immediately removed from the house.

The physician, finally securing the aid of neighbors, took the case in his own hands and ordered that the woman be kept in the West End home until he saw fit to have her removed. He then bought clothing for the child on his personal responsibility, and, in the same manner, ordered a nurse for the young woman, bidding her to rest assured that she would receive proper treatment and attention. The doctor states that his appeal to two well known citizens for aid for the child, in the way of clothing, was met with a cold refusal.

The young woman in question came to the West Newark boarding house

ADMIRAL

Of the Big Pacific Fleet a Very Sick Man

WILL RETIRE SHORTLY

Aged Naval Officer Spent
But Little Time
On Deck

Rear Admiral Thomas Has Practically Had Command
During Voyage.

Washington, March 14.—Admiral Evans, commander of the greatest fleet of battleships ever assembled under one flag, is a very sick man. Advice just received from San Diego say that since the 16 warships left Trinidad, the one individual upon whom the responsibility of the greatest naval undertaking any country ever attempted, has been on his feet for less than 12 hours altogether.

Suffering from simultaneous attacks of rheumatism and gout, Admiral Evans has spent almost all the time since the beginning of the cruise on a sofa in his cabin.

While the great ships filed through the Straits of Magellan the pain-racked admiral sat in a chair on the emergency bridge, directly in front of his own cabin.

Rear Admiral Thomas, on the Minnesota, nominally second in command, virtually has had charge of the fleet during practically the entire length of the voyage.

That President Roosevelt knew he was bidding farewell to an old man in very feeble health, has been no secret to those in Washington who knew how ill Admiral Evans really was last December. Not one, but a half dozen of the best medical men in the naval service urged the President to put another besides Evans in command of the fleet on its 13,000-mile trip.

There were two reasons why President Roosevelt did not heed the counsellers. The first was that Admiral Evans was by far the best man to accept the tremendous responsibilities devolving upon the head of such an organization. The second was that Admiral Evans himself insisted on taking command of the great fleet.

Hong Kong, March 14.—The Japanese cruisers, Yakumo, Asama, Akitsushima and a flotilla of smaller craft, constituting a first squadron, are to sail, or have perhaps already sailed, on a secret mission and to an unknown destination, according to information received via Formosa. While definite information is lacking, there is much excitement here due to conjecture that the squadron is bound for Canton, to take forcible action toward the release of the steamship Tatsu Maru, seized by China for smuggling Japanese arms to China rebels.

A comfortably fitting wrapper or house gown is an indispensable garment, and all women know the value of just such a one as is here pictured (828). It is a favored design owing to its extreme simplicity. A choice of full length or elbow sleeves is given, and the neck may be in square cut outline or finished by a high standing collar. Several materials are adaptable, such as cashmere, flannel, dimity, lawn and China silk. The medium size will require 6½ yards of 36 inch material.

Ladies' House Gown, No. 828. Sizes for 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust measure.

All designs in underwear that tend to increase the flare at the lower edge while keeping a smooth, close fit about the waist, are much in vogue. A pleasing mode of this order is here illustrated (657-714). The corset cover is made with the front fullness gathered to a round yoke, which affords a good place for a simple design in hand embroidery. The drawers are cut on excellent lines, and being circular in shape, provide the necessary fullness without extra bulk. French cambric, with lace, hand embroidery and ribbon-run heading, is represented, but several materials, such as raincoat, lawn and longcloth are adaptable, and any preferred mode of decoration may be used. For 36 inches bust measure 1½ yards of 36 inch material will be required for the corset cover, and 2½ yards for the drawers.

Ladies' Corset Cover, No. 657. Sizes for 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust measure.

Ladies' French Open Drawers, No. 714. Sizes for 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32 inches waist measure.

The busy housekeeper will not fail to recognize in the accompanying illustration (851) a most attractive and practical outfit, consisting of apron, cap and sleeves. It will afford protection to the hair neat and tidy, even after a busy morning's work. The front is cut in Princess style, and its close to the figure, and a prettily shaped bib extends out over the shoulders in a manner very becoming. Gingham, linen, percale and Holland are suggested. The medium size will require 4½ yards of 36 inch material for the apron, with 1½ yards extra for the cap and sleeves.

Ladies' Apron, Sleeve Protector and Cap, No. 851. Sizes for small, medium and large.

The trend in modern lingerie is certainly toward beauty and perfection in fit. The illustration (740) shows a new chemise that has some good features to recommend it. The fullness has been taken out of the back as far down as the waist line, where it is laid in an inverted box pleat, thus doing away with that sagging at the neck in the back, while at the same time it gives a comfortable amount of fullness in the skirt. Batiste would develop daintily, the neck edge being finished with button-holed scallops. As shown it was made of raincoat trimmed with lace and ribbon-run heading. Muslin, cambric and longcloth are all used in the making. For 36 inches bust measure 2½ yards of 36 inch material will be required.

Ladies' French Chemise, No. 740. Sizes for 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure.

Patterns will be sent to any address on receipt of ten cents each, by Marjorie Dane, 43 West Thirty-fourth street, New York City.

To avoid delay, do not fail to state size of pattern desired, and be sure to write name and address plainly.

March Winds and the Complexion

THE most common faults with the woman who treats her complexion at home is her lack of perseverance. The woman with a fat purse patronizes a beauty parlor and pays someone to persevere for her. Nine out of ten cases she could accomplish the same result at home with simple remedies if only she would spend a little more time regularly before her own toilet table. Do not imagine that spasmodic applications of remedies will bring good results. It is the patient, regular application that, in due time, will bear fruit.

At this season of the year when much suffering is caused by the blustering winds and the dust that is almost ground into the skin by force of these dreaded March breezes, an ounce of prevention is worth more than the proverbial pound of cure. Before going out, some healing cream should be rubbed into the skin, then a pure hygienic powder should be dusted over the face. In cold weather scented soap should never be used. It is not good for the skin at any season of the year, but especially harmful just now. Always bathe the face in warm water for cleansing purposes, dash with cold water and dry thoroughly before going out.

The woman with oily skin is afflicted just now with many blackheads, as the result of the dust-laden breeze. The oily glands in her face seem to attract particles of dust and dirt. Any attempt to expel these blackheads with a needle is irritating to the skin and often bruises it, leaving a scar. On the toilet table of every woman should be found a comedone extractor for the purpose of expelling contents of pimples. Keep the skin clean by the constant use of the complexion brush and bathe the face morning and night with sweet cream. This will feed the skin and at the same time soften it so that the blackheads will yield up their contents more easily.

If the skin has become tanned from the spring winds, try this simple home-made whitener: Take two tablespoonfuls of oatmeal, and boil it in a quart of water for ten minutes. Cool and strain off the liquor. Add to it the juice of one large lemon or two small ones, and a dessert spoon of pure alcohol. Rub the face with this with a soft cloth, but do not wipe it all off. Wiped lips will spoil the face of the entire face, and any local drugstore can compound the following formula, which will effect a cure in a few days: Cocoa butter, 10 grammes, castor oil, 2 grammes, all of birch 2 drops, extract of camellia, 1 gramme, essence of star-anise, 4 drops. Apply to the lips three times a day until the cure is effected.

Chilblains caused from ice skating or other exposure are most painful, and are warranted to make deep wrinkles in the face. If the chilblains have not broken open, soak the feet in the hottest water you can bear, adding more hot water all the time from a kettle. In fifteen minutes the feet will feel better. Then bathe with cold water, and dry gently with bath towel. The following lotion (Alum (powdered), ½ ounce, essence of camphor, 1 drachm, cucumber juice, 2 ounces. Acute inflammation of the eyes is

Beautiful Bows for Spring for Shirtwaists, Hats and Slippers

THE trimmings and accessories of a garment are, in these days, of vital importance. They make the costume chic or otherwise. For instance, what is the tailored shirt waist without its perky little bow at the throat? So let us talk about these many little bows first. Each week the shops seem to offer dozens of new varieties, and I can find no more alluring way of spending a spare hour than wandering from one shop to another, and peering into the glass cases where these neck bows are kept. Most of them can be duplicated perfectly by the home sewer.

Among the newest short bows are those made of Roman striped ribbon. This costs about 35 cents a yard, but it is new and that is worth much. If your shirt waist is white you can select some very garish colorings, such as a ribbon with yellow for a foundation color, striped with several blues, greys, lavenders, etc. But if your blouse is made of dark blue silk, for instance, then your tie of Roman ribbon must have dark blue for the predominating color, with only rich blending shades for stripes. If the ribbon does not go around the neck, three-quarters of a yard is ample. These are not small but rather wide bows. The old-fashioned Windsor ties, so much worn by children, also find a place among the grown-ups' finery. These ties are almost always made of surah silk, and the newest ones are embroidered at the ends in contrasting colors. I saw some very dainty Windsor ties this week made of pale pink silk, polka dots; pale blue ones with circles feather-stitched in corn colored silk; dark blue ones with tiny red fleur de lys, etc. Some of the new Windsor ties are very narrow, about three inches in width, with scalloped ends.

Let me say that these Windsor ties, with their soft, rather flowing ends, are very becoming to a certain type of girl—not the stiff, tailor-made girl, but rather the one who wears blouses of soft, sheer materials with turn-over collars, the ethereal type of girls with fluffy hair and dreamy eyes.

Quaint little bows to be worn with wash waists are made from small handkerchiefs with colored borders and flowered corners. Some of these are made with just the four points of the handkerchiefs cut off on the bias at each corner and used to form double pointed ends—the middle bound tightly together with a crushed piece cut from the center of the handkerchief. Others have a straight half of the handkerchief side-pleated and finished off at the top with a bow made of the other half. These handkerchiefs can be purchased at any department store for about 12 cents each, and one or two of them worked into your box of neckwear will lend great variety to your shirt waist bows.

Just at present plain satin and straw hats are trimmed with huge bows of wired all-over lace and net. This is a fashion that I do not recommend to the girl with few hats. It is an easy method of trimming a hat, indeed, so easy that the fashion will become frightfully common within a month or so, especially in large cities. If you have an old hat which you want to freshen up, and do not want to buy a lot of new trimming for it, then a ceru lace bow, wired, will help you out. These bows have no ends; they consist of six large loops, three on each side.

In connection with loops, let me say that almost all of the up-to-date bows are made without ends. Sashes are not so long in the back as they were, and seem to be entirely of loops, with occasionally one long end. This long end is generally finished by tying a knot in it, and tacking it with needle and thread so that it will not unfasten. This method of finishing the end gives weight to it and prevents its flying out of place.

Bows on evening slippers are exceedingly smart, and can easily be made at home for almost nothing, while the smart boot shops are asking fabulous prices for them. Little choux are made of delicately tinted chiffon to match the slipper, forming a chubby bow resembling a tulip. In the center is fastened a matching rosebud or flower of satin, and the entire ornament is brightened up here and there with a rhinestone sewed on, giving it, for all the world, the appearance of a dewdrop. They also tell us that the smart young girls this summer are going to wear a one-eyelet tie in white canvas or kid, tied with broad pink or blue or lavender ribbon. With these bows you must wear a stocking matching the ribbon, or more properly speaking, your ribbon lacers must match the color of your stockings. A young girl was seen the other night at an informal dinner in a dainty white lingerie dress, with which she wore blue silk stockings and white slippers tied with a broad, stiff blue bow of gros grain ribbon, and at her sleeve were tiny bows of blue ribbon. She made a charming picture. MARY DEAN.

Boiled Fish: In boiling any fish, you should put enough water in a large pot to enable a fish to swim in, if it were alive. Add to this water half a cup of vinegar, a teaspoon of salt, one whole onion, one dozen whole black peppers, one blade of mace. Take any fish and sew it up in new piece of cheese cloth, fitted to the shape of the fish. Put in the water and heat slowly for thirty minutes, then let it boil hard and fast for about ten minutes. Unwrap and serve with drawn butter, made from the liquor in which the fish was cooked, and add to it the juice of half a lemon.

New Hints from Blouse Land

THE average woman never thinks of such a domain as blouse-land, and yet such a place does exist. It is located in the very heart of New York's jobbing district, on either side of the world-famous thoroughfare, Broadway. You have to climb interminable flights of stairs or ride in dingy freight elevators to reach the land of a million blouses, for the dainty lingerie or tailored wash waist is made close to the clouds, in great sun-shiny lofts. The blouses must be kept so clean that they will not require laundering before reaching the retailer, therefore the dark, gloomy sweat-shop is never chosen for their manufacture. So it happens that up there close to the clouds, above the hum and roar of city streets, the blouse-makers, like the toy-makers, toll the year round to make the American women look trim and neat in that best of modern garments, the shirt waist.

There you will find women who design and men who select fabrics, and girls who feed the electric sewing machines with miles and miles of wash fabrics, and other girls who iron lace by machine or make buttonholes by machine. In fact, there is a machine for every part of the waist and a girl for every machine, especially trained to the work.

And if you stand by the man who selects the fabrics, you will learn first that white is the summer favorite for the spring and summer of 1908. Everything is white and generally all white, without even so much as a suggestion of colored stripe or figure, and this holds good for the most severely tailored morning blouse, and the most fluffy of lingerie waists. Checked or cross-barred materials lead in the fabric designs, and these wear much better than stripes, because stripes rot, while the cross-bar checks the breaking of threads in the stripes it crosses. The new checked or barred dimities, lawns and batistes come in a great variety, the checks varying in size from an eighth of an inch to the inch itself, though the medium size is by all odds the smartest. Very few piques are offered, as madras has almost entirely superseded pique. Imported or figured white, plain, cross-barred batiste is popular, and costs 25 cents a yard. But perhaps the most popular fabrics for shirt waists can all be bunched under the general title of cotton voile. To be sure, the trade has a dozen fancy names, but by any name they give the same effect—an open mesh in cotton which closely copies the voile mesh in wool or silk. It launders admirably and gives the best effect when trimmed with Irish lace.

For the lingerie waist to dear to the summer girl, lawn, batiste and handkerchief linen remain in favor, and flannel, German and French Val and imitation Irish, which washes admirably, are still in the running. A fancy for summer trimmings shows dainty combined with French Val or French and German Val alternating in stripes, and while Val is almost invariably combined with some other lace for trimming, one sees very little of last season's combination, machine embroidery and lace.

Manners and the Minister

YOUR minister, his wife and his family—have you ever thought of these as a problem in etiquette?

No? Well, perhaps you expect the minister to provide courtesy, good form and etiquette enough for both. Perhaps you belong to the large class of people who think that a minister never takes offense or gives it.

But believe me, there is a special code of kindly good manners which should regulate your relations with your minister and those who live within his gates.

How often we hear the minister, his family, his customs, his method of living, his bearing and dress flippantly criticized by members of his congregation who are old enough to know better. How often the minister's wife regards her advent into a new and perhaps more fashionable parish with positive fear and trembling because she is so afraid that she will not do the right thing at the right moment.

But how many parishioners stop to direct their own bearing toward the minister and the minister's family?

For instance, if the new banker brings his bride to town, when do you go to call upon her? At the end of two weeks? Exactly? You give her time to settle in her new home to make that home ready for your coming.

But the minister's wife?

Oh, you drop in upon her quite informally some afternoon within a few days after her arrival. A minister's wife should always be prepared to receive her husband's parishioners.

If you played the same trick on the banker's wife, you'd all apologize for coming so soon. A lady were to find out of town at 1 o'clock and to say your respects before leaving, etc. But if you do not apologize for intruding too soon upon the minister's wife, because it is your right as a parishioner to learn as soon as possible just what sort of housekeeper your new rector's wife is.

If you think the new banker's wife would be a welcome addition to your social circle, you are eager to give the first afternoon tea in her honor. You want to pose as her social sponsor.

How about the new minister's wife?

Perhaps you say that the church or the Ladies' Aid Society will give a social evening in the church parlor, and let everyone meet both the minister and his wife, and a number of prominent citizens will be invited, etc.

But think how much more it would mean to his wife if you gave a pretty, simple afternoon tea just for her, and made her feel that she had some attraction beyond that of being the minister's wife, that she was a personality welcomed by your set.

Suppose you try it! Be among the first to call upon her, and issue your invitation for an early tea, not failing to add on your invitations or cards the phrase, "In honor of Mrs. Walter Raymond Barker." Remember that you do not use her husband's title in connection with her name, even though he may be a doctor of divinity and the congregation is most proud of the fact.

If you and your husband are among the social leaders of the town, give a formal dinner in honor of the new clergyman and his wife. Give them the benefit of your social influence. They will need it, if there are not social leaders, do not bring to the edge of the circle, sniffling and snuffing, that of course you cannot expect to be noticed while Mr. Barker and his wife are around.

Give a small informal dinner for the new minister and his wife, not trying to outdo Mr. Barker and Mrs. Barker, but to be at your best—and the new minister and his wife may enjoy your simple hospitality the best of all. The minister's wife likes comradeship far better than patronage.

When you introduce either the minister or his wife to strangers, preface the introduction thus: "Mr. Blank, I want you to know our new rector, Mr. or Dr. Jenkins (according to his title)." Show in your every word and action the deference due a minister of the church and the occasion will acquire the dignity it deserves.

Never invite your minister to dinner or tea without including an invitation for his wife. You would be furious with a woman who invited your husband to dinner and forgot that he possessed a wife.

If your new minister establishes calling hours, or hours when he will always be found at the parish house, observe these hours. Do not interrupt him at odd moments, when he may be writing a sermon, with some trivial request. If he is to respond to important calls, he must be saved many trivialities.

Do not rush to your minister or his wife with bits of gossip. Either they must sacrifice their own dignity and listen to your tale, or show you the contempt they feel for a scandal-monger. The observance of these few simple, common sense rules will make the coming of the new minister much more pleasant for all concerned. Just bear in mind that the minister, however fine his calling, is yet human. Treat him and his as you would be treated yourself.

Blouse Hints

The woman who designs blouses is a busy person, for the American woman demands infinite variety in blouse. This season she will tell you that square lines are the smartest in applying trimming and shaping blouse yokes, stole effects, sleeve caps, etc. Also you will find that while the elbow sleeve is used as of yore on puff, lace-trimmed lingerie waists (the sort that bring gray hairs to the head of the average laundress and bills to their owner) for the morning waist the long sleeve is back—and most of us are really ready to welcome it. For shirt waists and heavy tub waists to wear with two-piece cloth or linen suits, the sleeve must be long. This is 1905's hard and fast rule.

You can take your choice between the regulation shirt sleeve with deep or narrow cuff to be worn with links, or the shaped cuff which runs almost to the elbow, which may be made of tuckled material or alternate stripes of material and lace insertion. In most of the designs shown on this page, both the long and short sleeve are given with the pattern, but the wise woman will instantly decide in favor of the long sleeve for morning waists. The short sleeve, thanks to a vigorous campaign on the part of French manufacturers, is being relegated to its correct use, for evening wear, when gloves meet it at the elbow.

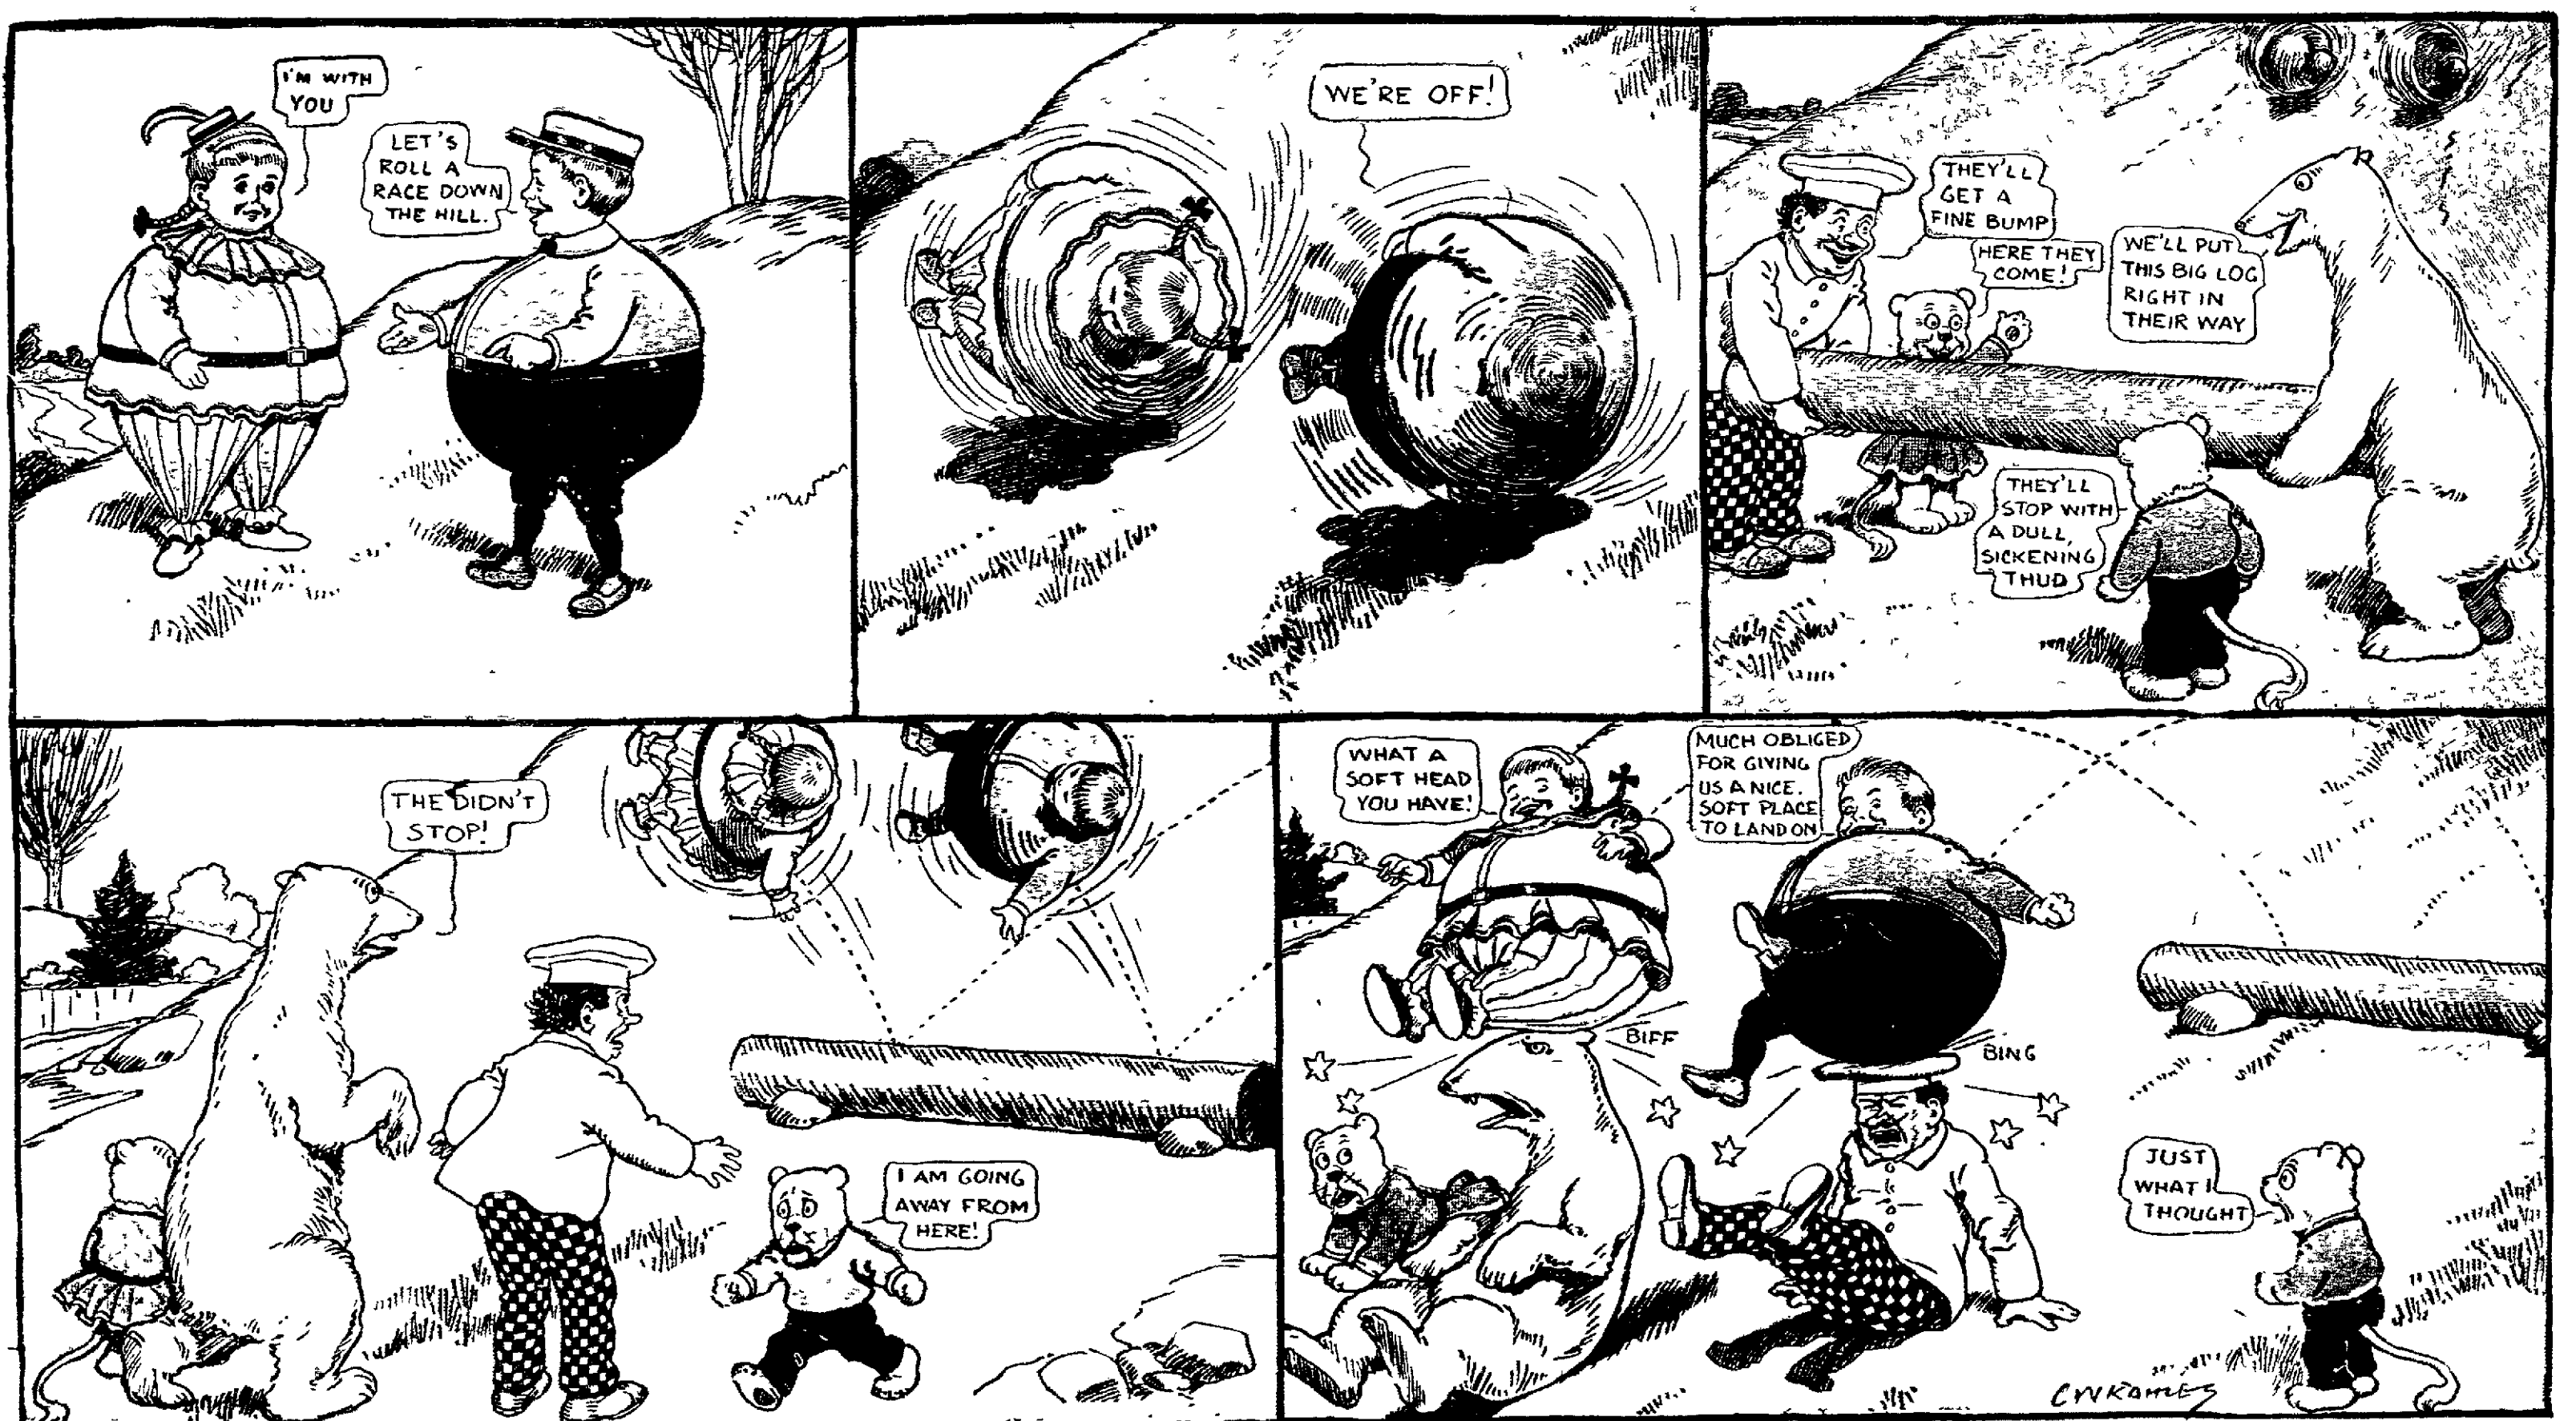

Salmon Loaf: Drain all the oil from a large can of salmon, pick it over carefully and remove all bones. Beat together four eggs until very light, add a cup of bread crumbs, a scant cup of rich cream, and the juice of one lemon. Salt to taste and add a good dash of cayenne pepper. Mix these ingredients well together, put in baking dish, cover the dish and bake for thirty minutes in good oven.

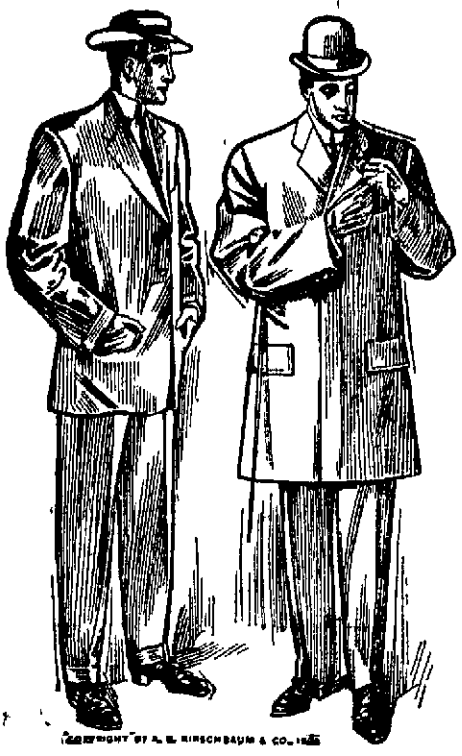

Maple Ice Cream: Three pints of milk, one cup of granulated sugar and the yokes of five eggs well beaten. Make a custard of these ingredients. Moisten half a pound of maple sugar and boil it until it candies, stir this into the custard, and when cold, add a pint of rich cream which has been whipped until very stiff, then it is beaten. Whites of the five eggs

COST NOT VERY GREAT

According to Amount of Good Accomplished in Cleaning South Fourth Street.

The Board of Public Service stated to the Advocate Saturday that the cost of cleaning South Fifth street would be less than $11 instead of nearly $75, as stated in another evening paper Friday. The board stated that it will probably be two months before the street will be paved and that it may be necessary to give the street another cleaning.

SERMON PREACHED BY REV. C. H. ARMSTRONG

While we are striving for betterment in every direction, pointing out faults in the social, industrial, commercial, financial and political affairs of the human family, it appears that the church is not escaping some criticism—or, at least, some wholesome admonition. A strikingly eloquent sermon in this line occurred in the passage delivered Sunday at the Lutheran church in Cairo, Ill., by Rev. Chas. H. Armstrong, who a few years ago was a Franklin county school teacher in Kibler township.

"If the church cannot meet and solve the problems that arise as our civilization unfolds, and thereby become a channel through which the men and women of the age rise to nobler heights of citizenship, civic usefulness and true Godliness, then our republic is doomed, and shall eventually pass from off the stage of racial activity into the darkness of death. The church must interest the masses, espouse the cause of the downtrodden and rebuke the oppressor, endeavoring to reconcile on lines of right—the elements now engaged in senseless strife. The Church of Christ ought to be a flexible organization, able, without serious sacrifice of fundamental principles or policy and doctrine, to adapt herself to the varied needs of the age. Controversies over such trivialities as organ or no organ, secret societies, Sunday schools, and missionaries have divided congregations, almost disrupted denominations."

A Cure for Misery.

"I have found a cure for the misery, malaria of poison, produces," says R. M. James, of Louisville, S. C. "It's called Electric Bitters, and comes in 50 cent bottles. It breaks up a case of chills or it puts yellow jaundice clean out of commission." This great tonic of medicine and blood purifier gives quick relief in all stomach, liver and kidney complaints, and the misery of lame back. Sold under guarantee at F. D. Hall's drug store.

SERVANT OF COX.

(Columbus Press-Post.)

From Taft the denouncer of Cox to Taft the beneficiary of Cox's favor, is such a drop from the sublime to the ridiculous that even Republican newspapers do not hesitate to taunt the secretary of war about his subservience to the Cincinnati boss.

In the Sandusky Register of March 7, a breezy editorial by I. F. Mack, one of the best-known Republican editors in Ohio, the following reference was made to the present relations between Taft and Cox, and Cox's domination over the convention that gave Taft his much-coveted home indorsement for president:

"That he is the same boss he was when William H. Taft denounced him at Akron is true. He is neither better nor worse than he was then. His political ambitions are the same. His political power is the same. Taft's speech at Akron did not injure him one particle, and without making the slightest effort he brought the Tafts to his terms and made them his obedient servants."

Think of it! Taft, the favorable member of Roosevelt's cabinet, now the OBEYANT SERVANT of the boss who was only a slum politician in his home city when Foraker gave Taft the first office he ever held.

From which view-point shall the people reach a positive conclusion as to the real character of William H. Taft? Shall it be the Taft who denounced Cox as a boss three years ago? Or shall it be the Taft who is an obedient servant of Cox as a candidate for president in 1908?

TRIES AGAIN TO SETTLE STRIKE.

Hamilton, March 14.—Secretary Bishop of the state board of arbitration arrived in Hamilton yesterday for a final effort to settle the strike of papermakers at the Champion Coated Paper company's plant. The strike has been in progress since December 23.

THIS AND THAT

Fifty thousand square yards of street paving will be laid in Newark this year. Brennan & Nutter, who now have a million bricks piled on the streets in the city, are waiting for favorable weather to begin work. They are to pave Union street from Buehler's corner to Pine; Church from Eleventh to the car barn; North Fourth from Log Pond run to North street; Fifth street from Main to the canal; Fourth from Main to the canal; West Main from Neil to Sixteenth street. Imbody & DeBord will pave Pearl street from Granville to Chestnut, and Eddy from Granville to Hoover. Frank H. Kinney has the contract for Locust from Third to Stanbery and Clinton from Locust to Wyoming. More street paving will be done in Newark this year than in any previous year save one, when the East Main contract was let.

It's astonishing how popular the nickel picture shows have become. With the Wonderland Musee and Bijou playing to a good business daily, to say nothing of the Orpheum, which has a moving picture attraction at each performance, another will soon open on the south side in the room now occupied by Long's department store.

Mr. Eli Hull has his plans for constructing his new six story block on the west side of the square completed and on the first day of April will begin to tear away the old structure now occupied by the Sparta candy store to make way for the new building.

They have a way of DOING THINGS over in Coshocton. One day this week the business men closed their stores and turned their attention to the sale of lots for the Board of Trade. In 12 hours a bonus of over $160,000 was raised to secure the Clow Pipe Works of Newcomerstown. It means a new million dollar plant for Coshocton and perhaps 5,000 more inhabitants. Coshocton has the spirit and the hustle that deserves success.

"Millionaires in Congress," an illustrated article in today's Advocate, is worth your attention.

People who use the Advocate classified columns for the first time are astonished at the results. Everybody reads the "liners" and if you have something a three line notice expressing your want will produce the result you are looking for. Three lines, 3 days, 25 cents.

Newark is going to have a No. 1 baseball team this year and if everybody thinks the quality of ball will be poorer than that of 1907 he had better take another guess.

BUSY PLACE

Police Court This Morning Consisted of an Even Dozen Cases—Many Varieties.

Police court was a fairly busy place this morning, and the even dozen balanced the three days past when not even a drunk showed his head. Officers Petrey and Gorman arrested W. C. Henderson and John Galey of Pennsylvania at 1:40 this morning and placed a charge of loitering against them. The men were picked up at the Bent Wood Works, where they had built a fire and had prepared to make a night of it. They were given a dollar and costs.

Joe Bush, a cab driver, who was arrested at 8:30 last night on complaint of his wife, was locked up but later released on $10 bail. His hearing was set for 7 o'clock tonight.

John Ridenour, claiming Zanesville as his home, was very much loaded with a good combination of Zanesville and Newark booze when picked up by Officer Swank at 1 o'clock. He was given ten days in jail.

Fred Dunn and Frank Somers, train riders, arrested by Detectives

Smith and Moore, were registered from Vandrif, Pa. They were given a suspended sentence of $1 and costs and ordered out of town.

Henry Johnson and Dan Lee, gentlemen of color, from Bellaire, were picked up by Officer Moore and a charge of prowling placed against them. They were given a suspended sentence of $1 and costs and told to hit the ties.

Wm. Osborn, a candy man of Mansfield, was joyfully tanked when taken in tow in the West End at 2 a. m. by Officers Gorman and Petrey. He was given a fine of $1 and costs and committed until it is paid.

The next slip said: "H. J. Summers, residence, Hotel Sherwood, occupation, traveling man, charge, drunk and refusing to pay bill at Kuster's cafe. Summers ate a late supper at Kuster's and then walked out and refused to pay for it. He then went to Kuster's lunch room and was busily putting away a sandwich when Captain Bell and Wagonman Brooke arrested him. He was very abusive and his assortment of names for Mr. Kuster and Captain Bell was very large. His lunch originally cost 25 cents, but the costs of the case, $3, and the tailor bill this morning and the sleeping in the city prison last night will probably teach him a lesson.

William Smith, Pittsburg, Pa., drunk and arrested by Officer Swank, drew $1 and costs. Officer Brown arrested a woman 80 years of age at 1:15 this morning. She was very drunk when taken in and had to be hauled to the city prison in the patrol wagon. She was given the costs in the case.

FEMININE TOPICS

We have had rajahs and tussahs and pongees and shantungs. In fact, our silk counters during the last several seasons might have supplied the local color for a Kipling story or the words for the Zenda-Vesta chant. This year, however, the materials with Indian names have been so strongly enforced that it looks as though every salesman would have to arm himself with a Sanskrit lexicon before starting on the summer campaign.

Have you looked over those Alabastine colors for decorating your rooms. They make not only the prettiest and most artistic but the most sanitary rooms. Alabastine is only to be had at the Newark Hardware Co., 23 West Main street.

To have the feet cold when getting into bed is the greatest possible mistake if one wishes to possess a clear skin. Persons who suffer from a sense of chill throughout the night, no matter how much covering is used, should immediately put on flannels.

Be sure you wear "the Green" next Tuesday. Green carnations and all St. Patrick's novelties are at Miller's, 13 East Park Place.

The woman who loves a bargain will appreciate this: Chan Jones tells a story about a friend of his named Mr. Isaacs. Mr. Isaacs was not feeling very well and he went up to the hotel clerk and asked him where he could find a doctor. "Right around the corner," replied the clerk. "How much does he charge?" asked Mr. Isaacs. "Here's something I want to put you next to," said the clerk confidentially, "he charges $10 for the first visit and $2 for the second." So when Mr. Isaacs went into the doctor's private room he said: "Well, here I am again, doctor," and saved eight dollars.

Did you notice those pretty green boxes they have at The Purity for your candies for St. Patrick's Day. Their specials each day are proving a great hit. Pine-apple smash is today's favorite drink, and the ice creams are caramel, chocolate, and vanilla, besides the Yankee and Melba Fruit Sundaes.

Quite a popular fad among the High school girls is to wear hair ribbon, but trimming and tie all to match. I saw a charming example of this the other day. The girl was dark-haired, with clear pink and white complexion, and was dressed in gray. Her gray, flaring felt hat was twisted with a scarf of bright green plaid dashed with yellow, her hair was tied with a ribbon to match, and a second broad ribbon finished a white linen Eton collar.

Noticed that Hansberger's have in an all-new line of ladies, misses and children's jackets. They are mighty nobby and stylish.

Fresh stains upon wall paper, where people have rested their hands, can be removed by covering the spot with a mixture of pipe-clay and water made into a soft paste and letting it remain over night; then brush off with whisk broom.

Don't fail to read "The Lion and the Mouse" before the play at the Auditorium on the 24th. You can get the special player's edition which usually sells at $1.50, for only 50 cents at Norton's.

"Mary, where did you get that pretty tabourette?"

"Why, I got it today at the Brilliant Company for 23 cents. Weren't you at their big opening at their new place at 36 South Third street? Their second floor is just loaded with furniture and I saw a stunning suit and hat that I will get when Henry gets his next pay."

Never lift a child by the arms; it is a most dangerous thing to do. And if you take the little one for a walk remember that what seems a moderate pace for you may be a most undesirable strain to tiny legs. If a child drags you may be certain that the pace is too rapid.

Madame Patti celebrated her sixtieth birthday on February 19. She seems to have discovered the secret of eternal youth. "I will be young as long as I live," she is said to have declared as a child, and few have kept a vow with more fidelity. Perhaps the secret of her youthful appearance and unimpaired vitality is her love for fresh air and careful dieting. In winter and summer ratti is always out for three hours daily, and the elements possess no terror for her.

Linehans take pains that you may avoid them. In selecting Goodyear Welt shoes for their line, they had in mind your comfort. They know that Goodyear Welts are the most comfortable shoes made. Because they are flexible, soft and the inside of the sole is as smooth as china. They do not have to be "broken in."

For your parlor or library there's nothing like "The Sunlight Lamp"—one of the best electric portables ever offered. It's a handsome design with an opal shade that will harmonize with any decorations. The Licking Light and Power company has them and they are only $3.95—all complete with cord and plug ready to attach to any lamp socket.

It is alleged that after you have complimented a woman on her youthful appearance and her beauty and praised her children it doesn't make much difference what you say about her husband.

Every housewife will be glad to learn of "Lofa"—the new bread—unless she is already using it. It is moist, fine flavored and will keep fresher than any other. Insist on your grocer sending it to you.

Have you seen that new Easy Chair Electric lamp? It's adapted for use at the side of an easy chair, sewing table, couch, and will please those who read in bed. It's a fine thing for the sick room. It can be moved any place and adjusted to any height you desire. It's only $5 at the Licking Light and Power Co.

Three very essential things that deserve more attention than is generally accorded them are: Good and well made corsets, dainty shoes and boots, and a supply of well-fitting gloves. No girl or woman can ever claim to be well-dressed who neglects any of these three important points.

The Lenten season with its long and dreary days, a period during which most women refrain from attending social functions or entertainments, is a splendid time for art needle and embroidery work. So many beautiful things can be made during this period and thus aid much in relieving the monotony of Lent. We are especially prepared to supply the needs for those who do needle work. Designing and stamping patterns have arrived for the spring season. At your leisure stop at our art department and see the beautiful new creations. The Powers-Miller Co.

Young Lady—Will the young man I am engaged to make a good husband?
Fortune Teller—It's up to you to make a good husband of him. All bad husbands are self-made.

A concern in this city that is destined to grow very extensively and which is already one of Newark's most progressive industries is the Inter-State Food Company, which is now co-operative with the Howell Provision company. This company was formerly located at Dayton and later at Johnstown. Their products are Medicated Salts and Fertilizers. A fine two story building, 72 x 80 feet, is already in course of construction. The combination of this plant with the other company will make an immense concern. Already one railroad switch is in but the added shipping output makes it necessary to have another constructed at once.

It is the expectation of the Stock Food company to do 2,000 tons of business this year. Many women will be employed in the new building.

The manager of the new business is M. E. Butts, and is a man of wide experience in this line. His brother, Harry Butts, is also a partner in the business and both are now residents of this city.

The auburn-haired woman looks best in the browns that shade into the tones of her hair or in the rich, dark greens.

The yellow-haired girl can wear red. The greens, too, are delightful on her; also certain yellows and blacks. Whites are less becoming.

Blues, particularly the pale and cold blues, are best adapted to brunettes whose color is warm.

The woman whose hair is dull and whose complexion and eyes lack brilliancy may still be attractive if she wears frocks that harmonize with her eyes and hair. Usually dull finished materials in browns, blacks and certain shades of blues that match the eyes are kinder to her.

LEGISLATURE

LISTENS TO SPEECH OF FORMER GOVERNOR OF OHIO MYRON T. HERRICK.

Democratic Senators Turn Light on Sinister Purpose in Attempt to Force Early Adjournment.

Columbus, O., March 14.—(Special.)—As anticipated in this correspondence at the time the resolution was adopted inviting former Governor Herrick to address a joint session of the legislature in reply to Mr. Bryan on the subject of guaranteed bank deposits, the Republican members of the house now have an excuse for opposing any such legislation. The excuse was furnished them by a spokesman of their own party, Mr. Herrick, for this is the effect of Mr. Herrick's reply to Mr. Bryan. The Republican members didn't want to vote for anything Mr. Bryan advocates, and they didn't want to show that kind of partisan bigotry by opposing a measure Mr. Bryan argued before the legislature in a strictly non-partisan manner. Mr. Herrick was willing to come and reply to Mr. Bryan, so he was invited. Mr. Herrick made as good an argument against guaranteed banks as could be made on that side, injected a little g.o.p. politics into it, and now the Republican members of the legislature are happy—they have an excuse for opposing a "Bryanism" and their excuse has the g.o.p. brand on it. So there will be no legislation at this session, to stimulate confidence in banks by protecting depositors in banks. All bills on that subject that were introduced early in the session have been given chloroform treatments by the committees to which they were referred.

CAPT. E. L. LYBARGER,

Neither will there be any legislation to give telephone subscribers interchange of local and long distance service, for which Representative Eley of Ashland county has labored earnestly and assiduously ever since he entered the house five years ago. The house committee on railroads after devoting three meetings to public hearings on the bill, and listening at two meetings to the wrangling between contending telephone forces which should have been sufficient to convince any committee of the necessity for declaring telegraph and telephone companies common carriers and placing them under the control of the state railroad commission, as proposed by Mr. Eley's bill and by the governor's message, or better still under a special commission, the committee decided not to report Mr. Eley's bill, but to propose instead a joint committee of three members from the house and three from the senate to "look into the telephone situation" and report to the governor. This kills the Eley bill unless Mr. Eley can get it before the house in some other way. This is the fate of all telephone bills so far this session: Mr. Hillenkamp's bill to give city councils extended powers in granting telephone franchises, was "killed by committee;" Mr. Aikin's bill to give city councils authority to fix rates for local telephone service, "killed by committee;" Mr. Freiner's bill to restore telegraph and telephone night rates, "killed by committee;" Mr. Eley's bill to declare telegraph and telephone companies common carriers under control of the state railroad commission, and for interchange of local and long distance service, "killed by committee." The only telephone bill left is that by Mr. Stewart of Clark to do all that Mr. Eley's bill proposed to do, but to forbid interchange of local or long distance service, which is to be given a hearing in two weeks.

When Speaker Eagleson selected Captain Lybarger of Coshocton county for one of the house members of the Cincinnati probe committee, he did what he could to even up with the big boss of Cincinnati and Ohio for his defeat in convention as candidate for the nomination for lieutenant governor. It is a well known fact that Cox's support of Eagleson in convention was even more half-hearted than his vote, which gave Eagleson less than half the Hamilton delegation on first ballot, with slight increases in second and third ballots, but never the entire vote of Hamilton county. If Eagleson had received Cox's solid support on first ballot he might easily have been nominated, for the delegates would have accepted the sign for a climb on the wagon. But Cox's divided vote caused other delegations following Hamilton county to split up and Eagleson lost behind "readway in strength on the first ballot. The new and uninitiated delegates who really imagined they were "running the convention" did not understand the scheme of the bosses to put Eagleson to the sword as a spectacular "defeat of Cox," innocently swung over to Creadway, which was just what the bosses expected them to do. Eagleson understands the game now, as indicated by his placing Captain Lybarger on Cox's trail, for Lybarger is a Forakerite of the first degree.

A good selection was made by Senator Williams, president of the senate, when he named Senator Gayman to fill the vacancy on the probe committee in place of Senator Hafner of Cincinnati, who resigned. This probe committee will begin operations next week. It consists of Senators Berry (D.), Gayman (D.) and Russell (R.), and Representatives Lybarger (R.), Van Dusen (R.) and Nye (D.).

Attempts to rush the legislature through its paces to an early adjournment have been thwarted. An attempt early in the week to get the Democratic senators into a caucus was unavailing. No doubt a remark by ex-Governor Herrick had some effect, for he said in his speech against the guaranteed bank bills that he presumed the session was near its close. That was enough to tip off the hand of the "interests," which want to get rid of the session as quickly as possible. After hearing Herrick's "hint," another caucus of Democratic senators was called and every Democrat was present. Its conclusions are set forth in the following proclamation:

The Democratic members of the senate, in a harmonious caucus, in which perfect unanimity prevailed, decided that the people who elected the members of this general assembly sent them here to enact legislation in the interest of all the people of the state. The caucus determined that all the talk that has been going the rounds for an early adjournment was with the sole purpose of defeating legislation in the interest of the people. It was decided that this legislature, having its work cut out for it, should stay here until the work was done. The state platforms of both the Democratic and Republican parties plainly state what the work is. The cry always goes up when a legislature is in session that there is little to be done except to pass the appropriation bills and go home. This is by far the smallest part of the work to be done, and it is of more interest to the people than any other items in the bill than to anyone else. The calendars of both branches of the legislature are clogged with bills, good, bad and indifferent, all of which will go down together if those clamoring for an early adjournment succeed in their purpose. This legislature has demonstrated that it will pass good bills and defeat bad ones, and the Democratic senators decided unanimously to stay here until the many important laws that are demanded by the people of the state are put upon the statute books. Among these are the initiative and referendum, home rule for cities, good roads, primary election law, bank bill, insurance laws, reform of the tax laws, bills regulating public service corporations, the completion of the regulations relating to public officials, laws regulating the deposit of state funds to secure the greatest advantage to the people, and election of United States senators by a direct vote of the people. This is some of the work that has been cut out for this legislature to do, and to adjourn without doing it is a positive violation of faith with the people who sent us here. The Democratic senators are determined to stay here until their work is done, or have the responsibility placed where it belongs. Two years ago, when the present assembly first convened, the people of the state spoke of it as a free and unbossed legislature that would represent the people. The 2-cent fare bill was promptly passed and the people felt that their law was confirmed. But that was before the lobby arrived. From that time to the end of the session not a single measure was passed that the predatory interests opposed. Then a hasty adjournment was effected because of the sickness of the governor. When the assembly convened last January the first act of the Republicans was to kill all legislation on the calendar. This was what the powerful lobby organized against the people wanted. This was the first step in the cry for an early adjournment, and for which the Republicans have been clamoring ever since. What has this legislature accomplished to date? The child labor law, the railway employee law, county local option law and the law permitting cities to sell electric light are the only laws of any great interest to the public, and two of these were in correct decisions of the supreme court. This is all that has been accomplished in more than two months' work by a legislature that has cost the people of the state $200,000. The capital city is infested with a public service corporation lobby and a public officers' lobby that are working day and night to bring about an early adjournment so that they will not be compelled to make an accounting to the people. The Democratic members of the senate will not permit an early adjournment if it is possible to prevent it, but they will consent to adjournment just as soon as their promises to the people have been redeemed.

This declaration made Republican members of both senate and house wince and say bitter things. It hit home so hard that the Republican leaders content themselves with epithets, but they have not yet dared to issue a counter manifesto.

James M. Williams, presiding officer of the senate, announced his candidacy this week for the Democratic nomination for governor. Though he hails from Cleveland he is a native of Coshocton county. Just what strength Mr. Williams will lead into the convention does not appear, but he is a veteran in politics as well as in war. In addition to being the largest member, physically, in the legal profession of Ohio, he is probably the youngest ex-soldier of the civil war and still counts himself in the prime of life. He enlisted at the age of 13 years, easily passing for 18, on account of his stature, and served in the cavalry until after the surrender of Lee.

A lecture on George Washington given on Washington's Birthday at the Holyoke Young Men's Christian Association to 200 Poles was written by an Irishman, translated by a Polish priest, read by a Polish woman, the stereopticon pictures were made by an Armenian, the advertising was done by hand-bills in Polish handed out by the Polish-English educational class members of the Association. The greatest applause of the evening was given when the United States flag was thrown on the screen. The Association is now having a lecture on Lincoln prepared for Poles, which will be also translated into Greek for the Greek colony.

AMUSEMENTS

NEW YORK SETS PACE.

New York has recently passed with favor upon another work of dramatic "art" known by the innocent title, "Irene Wycherley," in which Viola Allen is making a pleasing and quite satisfactory appearance, and now going on tour. "Irene Wycherley," like "Moussa Vanna," "Salome," and just a few dozen other plays, is based on the life story of a poor, deluded creature who is too weak to resist temptation—not the lighter, more ordinary forms of temptation, but that form of temptation which takes from its victim all virtue, all sense of good and bad, and leaves nothing but an empty body responsive only to the lowest of human passions.

And New York, of course approves! When one stops to consider what is taking place in this great art center of the United States, regarding affairs theatrical, one is inclined to have a good quiet laugh at first, and then get down to serious thought and call the New York public both fickle and foolish. Yes, more—one would call the New York public degenerate.

The original idea of the drama, as all leading students of the subject will readily assert, was to preach a sermon, to uplift and better humanity at large. In the earlier days of the theater the "attractions" were of a religious character.

What are they today? What sort of dramatic productions fill the coffers of the magnates, pile up the box office receipts and appease the lewd hunger of the sensation loving crowd making up the "society critics"?

It seems strange, indeed that such a marvelously sensuous piece of work as "Salome" should fall before the criticisms of New Yorkers because "it was too strong."

Of late years a dramatic work in order to win popular favor, must contain more or less of the sensuous; a greater or smaller amount of play upon the lowest of human passions, using that highest of human passions pure love, as a go-between, or medium to an end.

One example that we hear for the present day—20th century tastes of the populace, is that there is a great deal of material that dramatists are running out of plots, and that the real emotions are to be called forth in a play of this character. Real emotions, they certainly are not. So called emotions are nothing but the fifth of enough satisfaction of a passion and enough favors to the dominant impulse without stopping to depict the life of the individual actor in this time zone, which is that of the soul's wonder.

Where are the purer emotions which have been dropped to? Indeed, it would seem that as we progress, we retrograde.

Give us once more, if need be, the sleek, black mustached villain of the riding habit and whip; give us again the country lass lost in New York or London; give us anything in the old, worn out, triangular melodrama with its inevitable three—heroine, hero and villain, but spare us the pictures of the low life of "high society." It can do little good and much harm.

PARTELLO STOCK CO.

The Partello Stock company closes its engagement at the Auditorium on Monday, presenting the interesting comedy drama "We Never Sleep," with specialties between the acts. The entire cast appears tonight in the "Railroad King," and the scenic effects will be in keeping with the story of the play.

OUR NEW MINISTER.

Obadiah Blunton is one of the meanest men you ever saw. Obadiah is one of the Hardscrabble folks, the community shown up so humorously in Denman Thompson and George W. Ryer's "Our New Minister." In contrast to Obadiah, the play presents in Cult Holten a grand old citizen of Hardscrabble who is all wool and a yard wide. Of course in the comedy there are lots of other Hardscrabble folks of interest. They'll all be here soon. Joseph Conyers is still among "en" Joseph, "you remember, plays the country constable. Auditorium. Thursday evening, March 19.

THE BEAUTY DOCTOR.

Beautiful women, catchy music, side splitting comedy and scenic and lighting effects are the reputed features of Fred E. Wright's production of "The Beauty Doctor," which comes here March 20. Many special numbers, large in ensemble and catchy in musical environment are part of the composition of the comedy and the cast is of special strength with a chorus noted for its beauty as well as its singing strength and ability. The appearance is for the local stage employees' benefit.

ORPHUM THEATER.

Don't miss visiting either one of the two performances this evening as the all star bill should be greeted with your most liberal patronage. The acts this week that are scoring such a remarkable hit are the Kingslows, comedy musical act, Williams and Mayer, comedies, skit artists, Williams and Leslie, the black face comedians and Kotora the Japanese wire walker and foot balancer, and the song and pianists.

The bill for next week is headed by Blonnetta and Newman, the West Point cadets, Adair and Bent, comedy skit artists, the Sterlings, Butler and Kirby, Phil Morton the old time comedian and the song and pianists.

Don't Neglect It

It is a serious mistake to neglect a weak heart. It is such a short step to chronic heart disease. When you notice irregularity of action, occasional short breath, palpitation, fluttering, pain in chest or difficulty in lying on left side, your heart needs help—a strengthening tonic. There is no better remedy than Dr. Miles' Heart Cure. Its strengthening influence is felt almost at once.

"I have used 10 bottles of Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and can truthfully say it has done me more good than anything I have ever used, and I have tried nearly everything that I know of. The doctor who attended me asked me what I was taking and I told him Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, he said it was not going to do me any good, but it did. I have not taken any for a year now, and while there is occasionally a slight symptom of the old trouble, it is not enough for me to continue the use of the medicine. If I should get worse I would know what to do. Take Dr. Miles' Heart Cure as I did before. I consider myself practically cured of my heart trouble."

My friends will hardly believe me when I tell them it is not linen. I find it does not get dirty as quickly as a linen one, and when it does a minute work with a sponge makes it once-white again. I have used so-called rubber collars but they crack and turn yellow quickly."

A. J. Rayburn, 110 E. Second St., Rochester, N. Y., says: "I have used your collars and they are perfect. I have used them for months and they are still as good as new. I have used them for months and they are still as good as new. I have used them for months and they are still as good as new."

PETIT JURORS FINE BANQUET

TWENTY-FIVE OFFICIALS, JURORS AND FRIENDS ENJOY SPLENDID FEAST.

Sumptuous Menu Served at Kuster's
Cafe Friday Night—Banqueters
Respond to Toasts.

An event that will long be remembered by the twenty-seven guests in attendance, was the banquet tendered by the petit jurors to the court officials and a few invited guests at Kuster & Company's cafe, Friday night. Gideon A. Clifton of Etta, presided as toastmaster, and a number of guests responded to his call for a brief address at the banquet table.

At promptly 7:30 the well known North Side caterers began serving the guests in the inimitable, highly satisfactory manner, the following menu:

Oyster Cocktail
Clam Chowder
Baked Stuffed Pickle
Roast Turkey Cranberry Sauce
Mashed Potatoes
Salad
Roast Pig Apple Sauce
Stewed Peas
Creamed Sweet Breads
Pickles Celery Olives
Ice Cream Cake
Coffee Cigars

The following guests responded to the call of the toastmaster: Judge Charles W. Seward, Judge E. M. P. Bristol, Juror R. L. Patton, Deputy Clerk Ed. Larason, Juror Jesse W. Vermilion, Juror Isaac DeBow, and Ben Hoover.

In each instance the sentiments of the gathering were expressed with reference to the honorable calling which brought them together, and the fact that probably never again would they meet at the same festal board under such conditions. A goodly amount of choice humor was mixed with the sentimental so that each guest enjoyed a good hearty laugh at the expense of his neighbor. The event was most thoroughly enjoyed by all present and all expressed their hearty appreciation of the work of the committee on arrangements and the service of the restaurateur, by responding in an unanimous vote of thanks, following the toasts.

The guests departed at 10:15. The committee on arrangements consisted of William Reese, C. D. Lake and John Duncan.

The following jurors and guests were present: Judge C. W. Seward, Judge E. M. P. Bristol, Cephas Harter, Licking; Jesse B. Vermilion, Union; Charles D. Lake, Newark; J. C. Morrison, Madison; E. M. Burdick, Newark; R. L. Patton, Monroe; Orville Fisher, Hopewell; Edward Morrison, Bowling Green; Gid A. Clifton, Etta; F. M. Hursey, Hopewell; Geo. R. Taylor, Newark; Converse Wylie, Newark; Samuel Cooperider, Bowling Green; John Duncan, Newark; Wm. Reese, Newark; Peter Wilson, Eden; I. H. DeBow, Granville; Stephen Hoskinson, Franklin; Sheriff S. Petition to Deepen Ditch.

A petition has been filed by Oscar Tharp of Monroe township, asking the county commissioners to deepen and enlarge a county ditch, a branch of the Blamer county ditch, formerly known as the Hill ditch. The time set for visiting the ditch by the commissioners is April 1 at 1 o'clock.

Viewing North Fork.

The county commissioners went up to St. Louisville Saturday for the purpose of viewing the North Fork of the Licking river which threatens to leave the old channel and take a new course some 600 feet east of the Coffman bidge. It is the opinion of the commissioners that the bridge can be moved to accommodate the new channel of the creek cheaper than they can make the improvement necessary to prevent the further encroachment of the stream.

Suit in Attachment.

B. G. Dawes, Fletcher S. Heath and Melville Gillett yesterday filed suit against Frank G. Warden for $2299.79, which they claim to be due them in connection with the operation of the Citizens' Light and Power company of this city. The suit is a case in attachment and garnishment, and the garnishees are the Capital Savings Bank and Trust company of Columbus, and the First National bank of this city.

BRILLANT OPENING

FRIDAY EVENING ATTENDED BY LARGE CROWDS FROM 7 TO 10 O'CLOCK.

Successful Career of One of Newark's
Hustling Young Business Men—
Banquet Enjoyed at Kuster's

The grand opening of the Brilliant company in their commodious new quarters, marked an era in the history of this store of which its well-known manager, Jack L. Brilliant, may feel justly proud.

The rapid strides in business made by this enterprising young merchant are something phenomenal and are due to his tireless energy, perseverance, and careful attention to the advancement of his business.

Coming to this city three years ago Mr. Brilliant began in a very small way. He handled small articles, and occupied a room on East Main street, near the B. & O. tracks. He soon outgrew his quarters and in a year he moved into a room in the Avalon on West Main street, adding men and women's clothing to his stock. After two years here he again found his business had outgrown his quarters, and very fortunately was able to secure the building just vacated by the Bell-Dana Co. Here he now occupies the entire building and to the other stock has added an extensive line of furniture.

The first floor is devoted to a complete line of men and women's clothing. On the second floor is the larger pieces of furniture—bedroom suites, parlor suites, carpets, rugs, etc.

In the basement are kitchen outfits, mattresses, springs, etc., and the entire third floor is loaded up with duplicate stock.

This store is one of a chain of nine stores, located in Ohio. Each store taking the name of the managing partner.

The splendid musical program, given by special artists, from 10 o'clock, was heartily enjoyed by everyone. The crowd was so immense that the side door into the hall on the second floor was used for an exit thereby avoiding a crush at the entrance. Every lady visitor was presented with a handsome piece of glassware, while the gentlemen were given cigars.

Leo Brilliant, of the Zanesville store, and Mr. Blattner, of another of the chain of stores, were here last evening assisting Mr. Brilliant in the entertainment of his hundred of visitors. An elegant banquet at Kuster's restaurant was given by Mr. Brilliant to all his employees and visiting partners at the close of the evening.

DRESDEN TO HAVE NEW WOOLEN MILL

Dresden, March 14.—A number of local men have organized a company and will start a new woolen mill. William Miller is at the head of the company, and with him are associated John Shaw and Henry Hare.

The company has acquired the old church building formerly occupied by the German Lutheran congregation, and will remodel the building into a factory. Lumber is being delivered on the ground and work will be started within the next several days. It is expected that the machinery will be installed and the new plant ready for operation by May 1.

MOYER

Starts on His Long Walk to San Francisco—Collected $150 in Newark.

Charles Moyer, the "world's champion walker," who is now on his way to San Francisco on a wager that took him to New York, walking the entire distance, and who stopped off in Newark, Thursday, has departed for Cincinnati.

During the day spent in Newark he collected $150.50, and he is prepared to swear that the money panic didn't strike Newark. If it did no one seems to know anything about it, for his collections fall to show where "the filth" isn't free here.

Before he left town he came to the Advocate and said he wished to extend his thanks to the mayor, the chief of police and all the officers, also to the business men and newspaper men for their kindness to him during his stay in Newark. Charles lost his head several times to the girls while here, and says they as the prettiest he has found during his travels.

WOULD LIKE TO LOCATE RELATIVES

The following letter was received by Mr. John Miller of the Howell Provision company, from Mrs. Emma Garman of 338 Ball street, Eau Claire, Wis., asking for information leading to the location of relatives:

"Mr. Miller—Dear Sir: Am trying to locate relatives of mine by the name of Miller, who, when last heard from, were living in Mercer county, Pennsylvania. My grandfather's name was Orrin Miller. He had three brothers, John, Abner and Martin. Their father's name was Daniel Miller. My mother's name was Charlotte Miller. She was married to Harvey B. Huford, who was my father.

"Hoping that you will answer this, I close respectfully.

FLORY TRACT IMPROVEMENT

Work is Progressing Rapidly and the Grounds Are Taking on a New Appearance.

"An opportunity improved is the base of good citizenship." The home loving people of Newark have an opportunity to get a location for homes that will undoubtedly never come to them again—central and ideal in every particular.

We wish to say to the citizens of Newark that neither effort or money will be spared to make the ground of the Abram Flory homestead one of the most beautiful places in Newark. Mound street will be extended and paved, cement walks laid, and every thing done to make it a desirable residence section.

Arrangements have been made with Mr. O. J. Hawkins, one of the very best architects and builders, to take charge of the building, and we are prepared to furnish plans, specifications and estimates on any style of house desired.

When you consider that I have my own carpenters and plumbers—men of experience—and buy all material at wholesale, it certainly is business and to your interest to see what I can do for you.

GOLDEN WEDDING IS CELEBRATED NEAR UTICA

At the bride's home, at 8 o'clock, while the moon was shining brightly outside, was married by Squire Lee Johnson, Mr. John Snare and Miss Margaret Plummer, March 12, 1858.

On Thursday, a beautiful clear day, with bright moonlight at night, this couple at their home two and one-half miles south-west of Utica celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. About one hundred and twenty-five relatives and friends spent the day with them and enjoyed the very bountiful dinner.

Two of Mrs. Snare's sisters, who were present at the wedding fifty years before, were present at this anniversary gathering, namely, Mrs. Angeline Riley and Mrs. Amanda Blind. Also their two children, Mrs. George Freese of near Highwater, and Charles Snare of Homer were present and helped to entertain the friends.

A fine Morris chair was given by the friends to manifest their respect and esteem. After a happy day spent by all present, they left wishing the aged couple still yet many happy years of wedded life.

ONE-NINTH OF A DOLLAR

Geo. W. Bixler Possesses Bank Note Calling for That Amount, Issued in 1774 at Annapolis.

George W. Bixler, of Brownsville, is the proud possessor of a bank note for 1-9th of a dollar, made in 1774. Mr. Bixler bought the prized bit of paper from a Confederate soldier whom he made captive in New Madrid, Mo., 45 years ago, paying him $35 for it.

The note has various inscriptions around its edges, reading as follows: "Issued by Anne Catherine and F. Green, Annapolis." "Tig Death to Counterfeit." "April Tenth, Anno Domini, 1774."

The body of the note reads as follows:

"This indented Bill of One Ninth of a Dollar shall entitle the Bearer hereof to receive Bills of Exchange payable in London, of Gold and Silver at the rate of Four Shillings and Sixpence Sterling per Dollar for the said Bill, according to the Directions of an act of the Assembly of Maryland. Dated in Annapolis, this Tenth Day of April, Anno Domini, 1774."

The note bears the signatures of Wm. Eddis and H. Japham.

PHILOSOPHY AND TRUTH IN THIS ADV'G THEORY

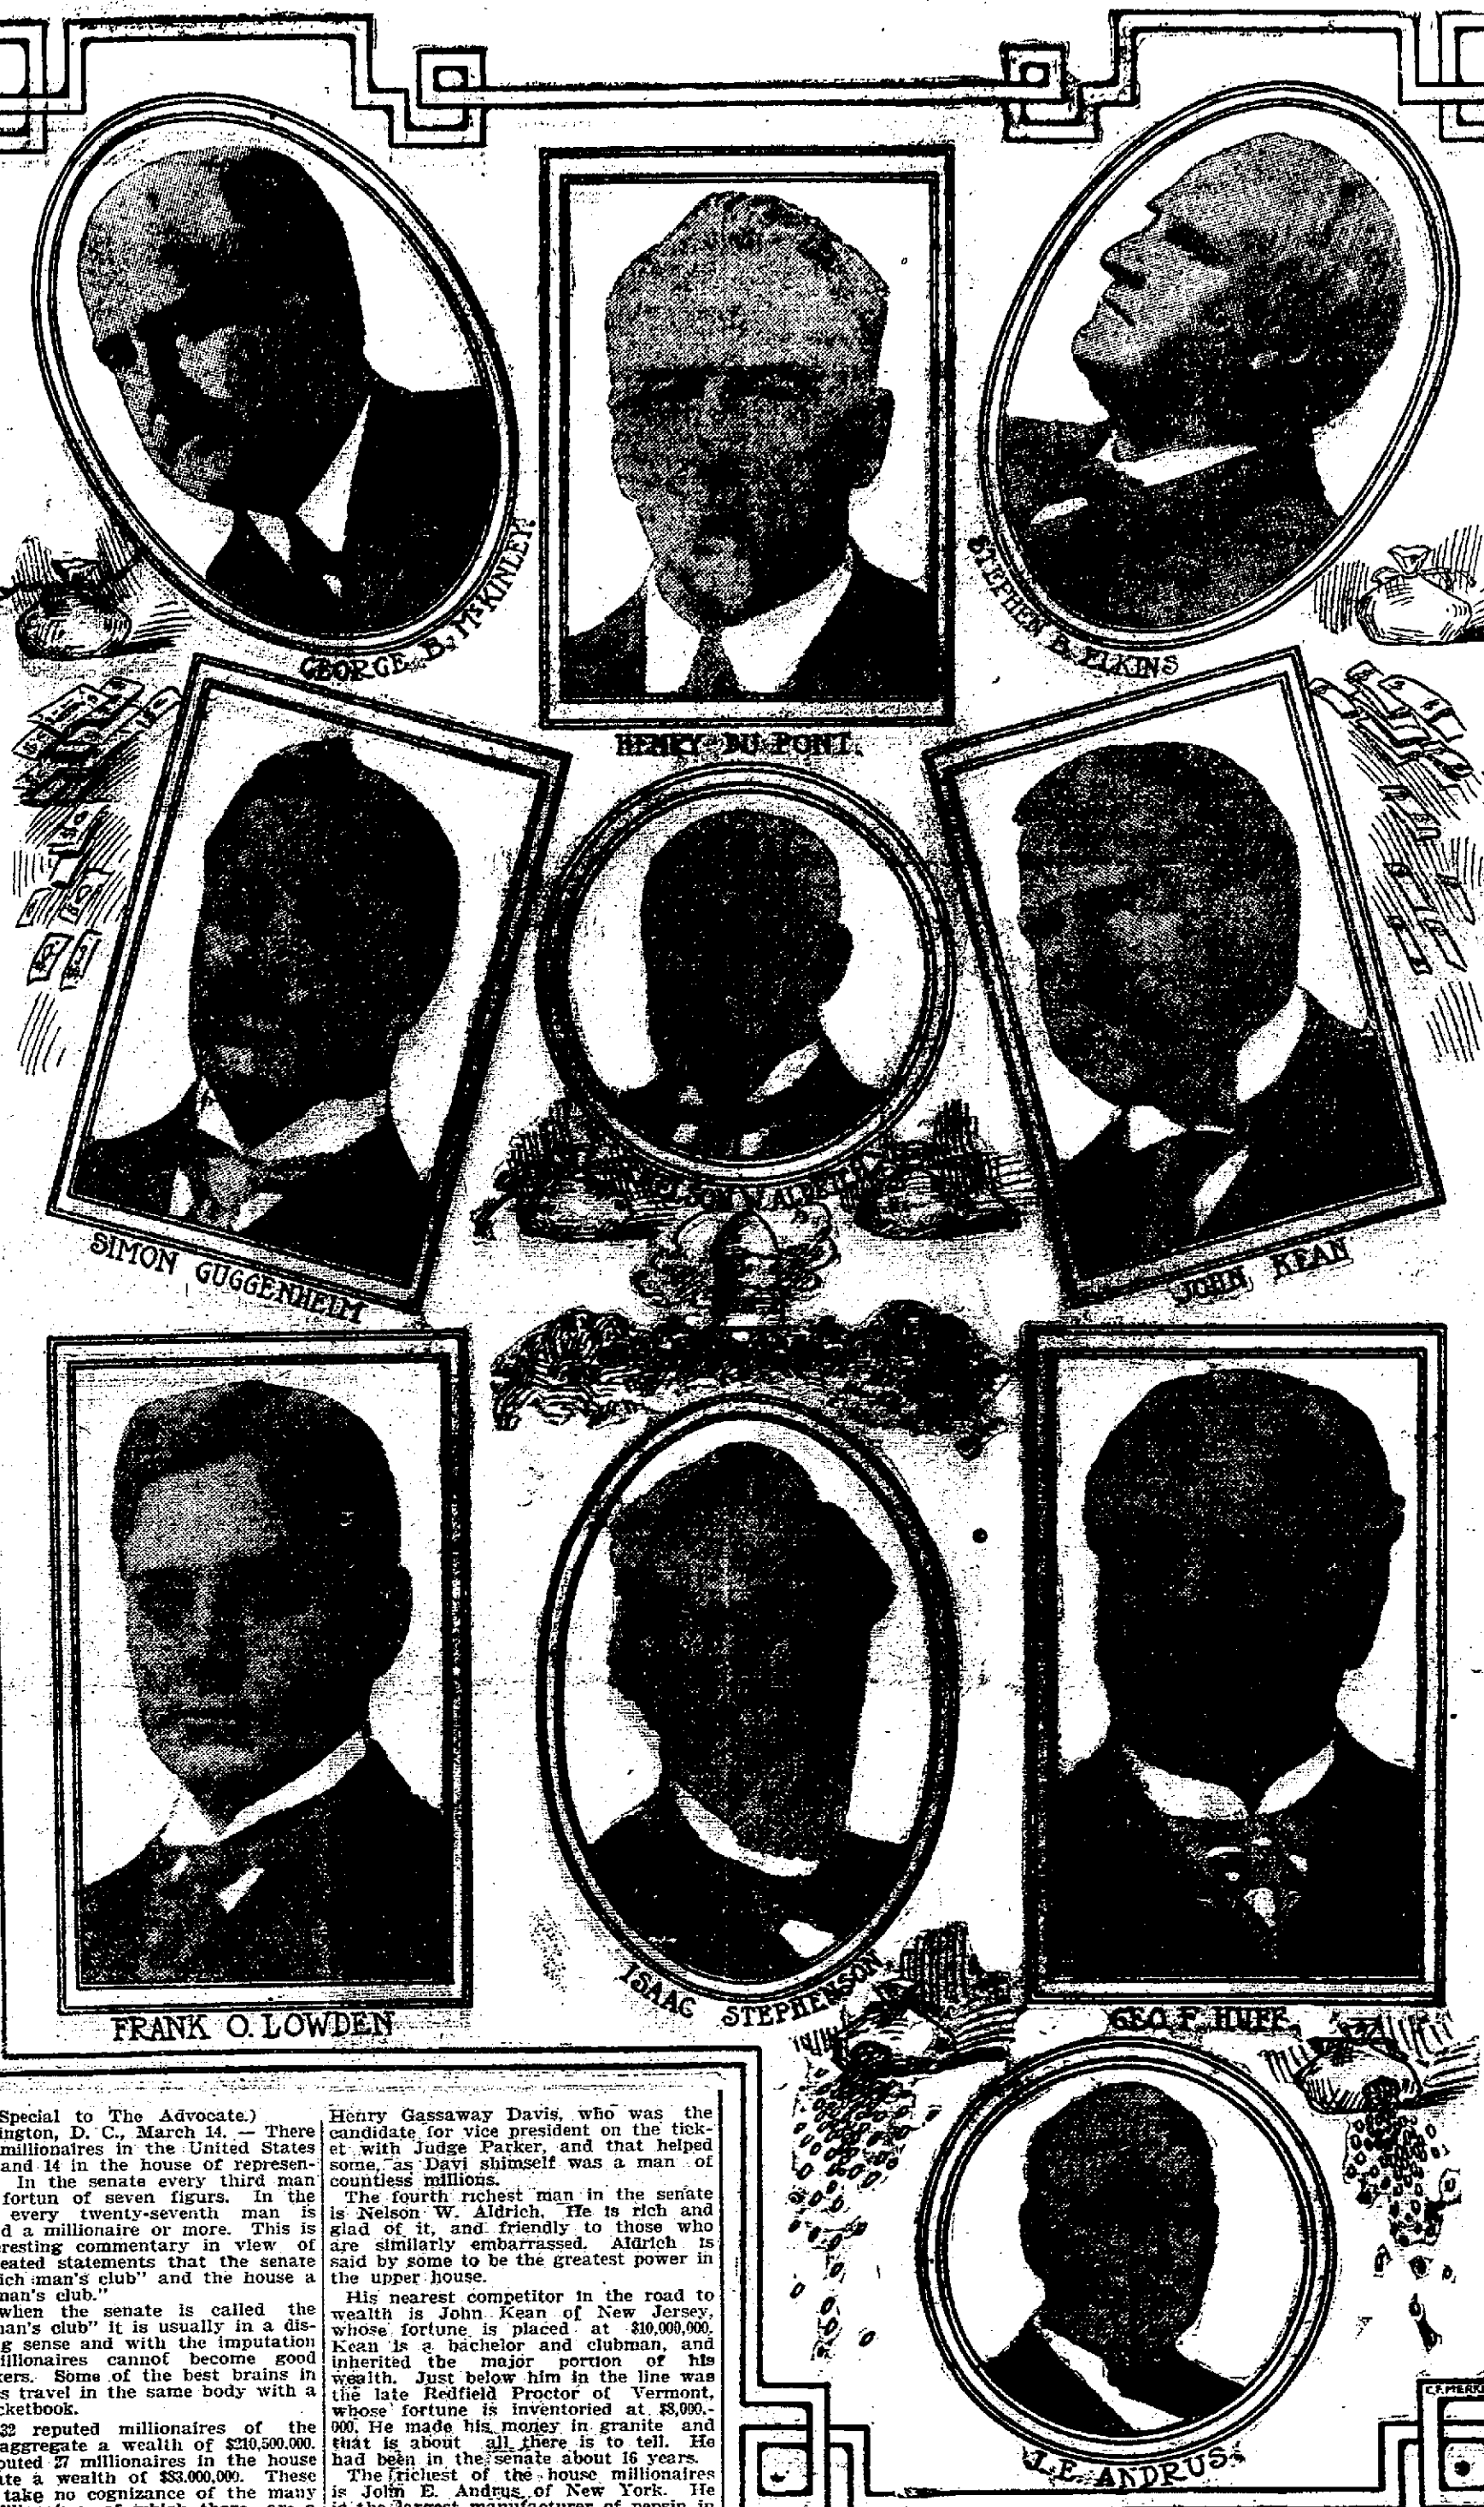

The Chicago Tribune has a theory of advertising which contains both philosophy and truth. The Tribune preaches from this text: "Have you ever considered an advertising campaign from the standpoint of an insurance policy?"

The idea is that the cost of advertising is the "premium" which you pay to insure yourself against a loss of business, a falling off of your trade, which is your chief asset. This outlay is smaller relatively than the premium you pay for insurance against fire or burglars or tornadoes, considering the risk. And besides the protection your policy pays dividends in the form of an increase of business.

It is not necessary any more to argue the value of advertising to a business man of the twentieth century; that is too much like debating the question whether it is a good thing for an animal to breathe. But the "insurance" conception of it is both interesting and true. The only difference is this: A man might carry no fire insurance and still come through without loss by fire; whereas the business man who fails to carry advertising insurance against the loss of his business is practically certain that some day he will face a condition of "total loss—no insurance."

Rank Foolishness.
"When attacked by a cough or a cold, or when your throat is sore, it is rank foolishness to take any other medicine than Dr. King's New Discovery," says C. O. Eldridge, of Empire, Ga. "I have used New Discovery seven years and I know it is the best remedy on earth for coughs and colds, croup, and all throat and lung troubles. My children are subject to croup, but New Discovery quickly cures every attack." Known the world over as the King of Throat and Lung Remedies. Sold under guarantee at F. D. Hall's Drug Store, 50c. and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

MEN IN UNITED STATES CONGRESS WHO ARE WORTH A MILLION OR MORE.

(Special to The Advocate.) There are 32 millionaires in the United States senate and 14 in the house of representatives. In the senate every third man has a fortune of seven figures. In the house every twenty-seventh man is reckoned a millionaire or more. This is an interesting commentary in view of the repeated statements that the senate is a "rich man's club" and the house a "poor man's club." It is usually in a disparaging sense and with the implication that millionaires cannot become good lawmakers. Some of the best brains in congress travel in the same body with a full pocketbook.

The 22 reputed millionaires of the senate aggregate a wealth of $200,500,000. The reputed 27 millionaires in the house aggregate a wealth of $33,000,000. These figures take no cognizance of the many near millionaires of which there are a host. For instance, Vice President Fairbanks is often referred to as a millionaire, but Washington newspaper men credit him with a fortune of between $200,000 and $300,000.

The richest statesman of the law is Simon Guggenheim of Colorado, whose fortune is placed at $50,000,000. The Guggenheims, father and son, practically control the smelting of the continent.

The second richest senator is Isaac Stephenson of Wisconsin, who has just entered the upper house, succeeding John V. Spooner. Stephenson's fortune of $30,000,000 has been made entirely from lumber.

The third richest upper house statesman is the venerable Senator Elkins of West Virginia, whose product is figured at $25,000,000. The Elkins wealth has been dug from mines, tailors, farms and banks. He married a daughter of Henry Gassaway Davis, who was the candidate for vice president on the ticket with Judge Parker and that helped some, as Davis himself was a man of countless millions.

The fourth richest man in the senate is Nelson W. Aldrich. He is rich and glad of it, and friendly to those who are similarly embarrassed. Aldrich is said by some to be the greatest power in the upper house.

His nearest competitor in the road to wealth is John Kean of New Jersey, whose fortune is placed at $10,000,000. Kean is a bachelor and clubman, and inherited the major portion of his wealth. Just below him in the line was the late Redfield Proctor of Vermont, whose fortune is inventoried at $3,000,000. He made his money in granite and that is about all there is to tell. He had been in the senate about 16 years.

The richest of the house millionaires is John E. Andrus of New York. He is the largest manufacturer of paper in the United States and the bulk of it goes into chewing gum. His $25,000,000 have accumulated principally from nickel investments in chewing gum. Next to Andrus the richest congressman is Wm. D. McKinley of Illinois, who is the most lavish entertainer and most popular spender in the national capital. McKinley is rated with a fortune of $15,000,000, representing street railway holdings.

The third richest congressman is Geo. F. Huff of Pennsylvania. Mr. Huff is president of the Keystone Coal and Coke company, one of the largest producers of gas and steam coal in the United States.

Some of the other big millionaires in the upper house are Henry A. DuPont of Delaware, who has $7,000,000, made from powder. Francis O. Newland of Nevada, the richest Democrat in congress, has $6,000,000, largely invested in mines and property. Senator Jonathan Bourne Jr., of Oregon, has $5,000,000, and he is willing to spend some of it to see President Roosevelt nominated for a third term. Senator Chauncey M. Depew of New York, has $5,000,000, which began to grow when he hooked up with the Vanderbilt New York Central Railway line. Senator William of Rhode Island, has $3,000,000, which came principally by inheritance. Senator Morgan G. Bulkeley of Connecticut, has $2,000,000, which has come from a life insurance company founded by his father, of which he is now president. Senator Levi Anthony of Washington, is worth $2,000,000 and is a banker. Senator Nixon of Nevada, has $3,000,000, made in mines and Senator Crane of Massachusetts, has $2,000,000, made from paper.

The Washington Herald recently printed a list of senator millionaires, and in addition to those above mentioned, the New York Herald credits the following senators with the possession of a million dollars or more:

Hale of Maine, Perkins of California, Warren of Wyoming, Scott of West Virginia, Knox of Pennsylvania, Foraker of Ohio, Lodge of Massachusetts, Platt of New York, Bailey of Texas, Hopkins of Illinois, Martin of Virginia, Richardson of Delaware, Smith of Michigan, Brines of New Jersey, Owen of Oklahoma, Penrose of Pennsylvania, Smoot of Utah.

Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Walker returned home last Wednesday after a splendid trip to Hartford City, Anderson and Muncie, Ind. They were well pleased with the Hoosier state and especially with the hospitality of the people.

IN KEEPING MONEY ABOUT THE HOUSE or upon your person there is always an element of risk. Loss by fire is a frequent occurrence; the newspapers contain daily reports of losses by theft.

Moreover, the cash in hand is in itself a constant temptation to spend—one so easily forgets how hard it was to earn and how much it would ultimately signify if added to the family savings.

It is a fact that if the average man could recover all, or even half of the money that he would admit of having spent foolishly, he would, in that sum alone, possess a modest fortune—to say nothing of the interest it would have earned had it been steadily deposited in this bank.

IN THE FIELD OF SPORTS

ASHER WILL PITCH

Manager Armour of the Toledo Mud Hens has decided to let big Ed. Asher do the twirling for that team when Toledo plays in this city on April 11 and 12. Asher heaved for Newark last year, and was sold to the Toledo team at the close of the season. He will doubtless prove a big drawing card, and will be given a big ovation when he steps into the pitcher's box, even if he does fling against his old team mates.

NEW DOPE

The sports writer on the Springfield Gazette switched his dope bottle the other day and comes out with the startling information that Marion Perkins "in shape to" pick up with the information that Bob Berry, now manager of that club, finished in last place with Marion last year.

The Lima Burners did land safely in last place, but according to reports that cannot be denied Bob Berry will come pretty close to placing Newark at the top of the list. He meant all right, but his dope kettle didn't bubble right and the misce followed.

GANZEL APPLAUDS

The Cincinnati Enquirer says this morning: The catching department, which has always been strong, seems to have picked up a valuable addition in the person of Bunny Pearce. The big fellow was working under the bat this afternoon with all the assurance of a veteran. He handled all the pitchers easily. On thrown balls to the plate he looked especially good. Ganzel tried him out by purposely throwing in a lot of low ones and instructed Lobert to do the same from the corner. Bunny went down and dug these teasers from the sand so naturally that Ganzel gave him the glad hand after the practice was over, and complimented him highly on his work.

Pearce also has a good position at the bat. From what has been seen so far he is the best young catcher who has been tried out by the Reds in years.

DIDN'T HURT BILL

Bill Coughlin, the doughty third sacker for Detroit Tigers was telling Harry White and Charlie Hickman his experiences in the mines of Pennsylvania, where he is said to have worked once.

"Did you ever have any thrillers, Bill?" they asked.

"Oh, a couple of tons of coal fell on me once."

"Did it hurt?"

"Not at all. It was soft coal."

Whereupon he stretched his hands above his head and yawned lazily.

OPPOSITION TO HUNTING TAX.

There is strong opposition among farmers and land owners throughout the county to the proposed tax on hunting, even upon one's own land. The protection of birds of all kinds, especially of quail, is all right and the requirement that sportsmen from cities and from outside the county be required to pay for the privilege of hunting is not objectionable, but to tax a man or boy a dollar, or any sum for the privilege of hunting rabbits on his own premises, during the time prescribed by law, is certainly an imposition, and an unwarranted impertinence to say the least.

It Does the Business.

Mr. E. E. Chamberlain, of Clinton, Maine, says of Bucklen's Arnica Salve: "It does the business; I have used it for piles and it cured them. Used it for chapped hands and it cured them. Applied it to an old sore and it healed it without leaving a scar behind." 25c. at F. D. Hall's drug store.

"STAR BRAND SHOES ARE BETTER. STEPHAN'S DEPT. STORE."

ROBERT QUINN.

President Bobby Quinn of the Ohio State league, doesn't think the financial flurry will have any effect on base ball attendance. He says: "Many persons have brought up the question of the probable effect upon the attendance at our games since the financial flurry. For my part, I do not expect the conditions to have much of an effect upon the gate receipts."

"A lot of people have argued this way with me: 'If persons are without work, they will go to the ball park for the very good reason that they will have nothing else to do. Rather than do nothing in the afternoons, they will try their best to raise the price that is charged at the gate.' If the attendance falls off one per cent, I will be mightily surprised, and, in fact, I rather look for an increase in attendance even over last year. You remember back in '93 that the hard times didn't have much effect upon the baseball proposition."

BOOST, DON'T KNOCK

Lancaster isn't making so much noise. They don't care anything about the pennant. All they want is to beat Newark out.

Already the sporting writers down there are commencing to pick their club to pieces, and show up its weak points to the management, and altogether give the manager a fine chance to make good. Outfield weak, most candidates castoffs, are some of their complaints.

Plug that up and root for the success of the league. Don't get cold feet while it's thawing. Springfield, for instance in the Central league, last year, is coming royally to the support of the club in the young circuit, and starting out under new conditions altogether, has as much right to be pessimistic as anybody, but if you find any of it in the town you can take it with you.

There's only one way to dope this league, and that is that it's going to be the hottest success ever. Bobby Quinn is there, and the expenses are cut to the quick.

Let George Fox manipulate the nursing bottle for the fans and maybe the colic will leave. Why not?—Springfield Gazette.

What will become of Ferdie Drumm, erstwhile manager of the Lima team? Since "Roaring Bill" Clarke has bought their franchise it looks as though Drumm would be out of a job, for two managers are scarcely necessary in a town the size of Lima. Might solve the problem by electing him captain and letting him play second, or is Clarke to hold the captain job, too?

HEAP BIG WAR

It's to be war to the death in Erie. "We will wait until the O. P. schedule is made out, then we will make our own schedule, so as to have a game in Erie every day there is a game at North Girard," says George Rindernicht of the Interstate league. He is chairman of the Interstate schedule committee and will be able to put his plan through.

He further says that every team in the Interstate will receive $80 per game in Erie no matter whether they will play to one or to 10,000 people. On holidays they are guaranteed $80 and 50 per cent of the gate receipts.

DOPE FOR FANS

Maybe Walter East will again be with the Akron team. Squire Mansfield of McKeesport is said to have offered to trade East for Dick Breen and the Akron fans want the bet called. How Mansfield got him from Little Rock is a mystery.

Killen, Chilli and McKenzie have been reappointed as umpires in the Central league. "Pipes" Conley of Chicago is the one new man.

Matty Mattison, backstop for Sharon last year, wants $200 per instead of the measly little $175 offered by Secretary Clupper. Says he won't sign until he gets it.

The Marion manager is still waiting for Luskey, Fox, Burk, Ingerton, Mylett and King to "take their pens in hand." Money question holding them up.

Rube Waddell has kicked up again. This time he had a wrestling match with Barney Petty and Hobe Ferris and fell against a steam pipe. He cooked his shoulder. McAleer has ordered him to "take a few days' rest. McAleer's troubles are commencing.

Ty Cobb is at Augusta, anxiously awaiting word from Manager Hughie Jennings, but Hughes is very silent.

"Wee Willie" Kommer, formerly a star southpaw with Akron, has signed an Akron contract again. In the old Protection league three years ago, he created a sensation. J. Ben Campbell, the largest stockholder in the Akron ball club, has sold all of his interest to J. T. Windsor, William Windsor and President H. H. Bibbs.

Another Hemphill, Fred, has butted into baseball. He resides in Detroit. He is an outfielder who has made good in independent ball. The Hempt could form an outfield with Fred, Frank and Charlie.

Jack Morrissey, of Lansing, Mich., is probably more in baseball than any man in the country. He is owner, manager, captain, first baseman, and leads off in the hitting. In addition to that he is on the schedule, auditing and circuit committees of the South Michigan league.

Only five weeks more until the bleacherite will receive an opportunity to contract pneumonia.

Three of the men counted on as regulars, have yet to come into the fold, but the local club is not worrying about them. Speas, Breen and Ted Strood have yet to spill ink on Akron contracts.—Akron Beacon Journal.

The schedule committee of the O. P. league will meet in Akron Sunday. President Morton, when he called the meeting, requests that all members of the committee be prepared to stay until the business is finished.

George Fox has signed up to manage the Lancaster team for another season. Fox is a mighty good man, good worker, heady, and well liked in the different towns where the Lancaster team has played. He was formerly manager of the Mansfield Tigers.

Harry Ostdiek is being played at first base on the Boston American club team.

Catcher Howard Wakefield, a Nap. last season, has come to his senses and signed a Toledo contract.

Veteran Jim McGuire believes that E. Cicotte, Boston American pitcher, showed what will prove the latest wrinkle in freak curves yesterday, when he discovered the knuckle curve, pitched with the fingers doubled, but the thumb grasping the ball. The new curve breaks fast after floating to the plate in lazy fashion. Cicotte has been practicing it for two years, and with assistance from McGuire, believes he has mastered it.

At a meeting Monday of the Marion Municipal league it was decided to fight Sunday ball in Ohio State league this summer. Mayor Scheriff favors Sunday ball and says he will not interfere.

Cy Young the veteran Boston pitcher, will celebrate his 41st birthday shortly. Cy is the oldest pitcher in the game.

If something doesn't happen to the Wheeling Central league team it will be strange. The club has 13 pitchers under contract.

Dan McAleese one of the leading catchers in the Tri-State league last season, and with the pennant winning Duluth team in 1905, has signed a Lima contract. McAleese will do the bulk of the catching for Lima.

President Charles Morton will take immediate steps to ascertain whether or not the O. P. league can secure protection this year as a class B organization.

East Liverpool fans celebrated the admission of their city into the O. P. league Thursday night by a parade and red fire.

President Davidson of Lancaster, received a letter from Walter Justus in which the big pitcher accepts terms offered him but says he will not sign his contract until he reports here.

Otto Knabe, former Mudhen, is modest, to say the least. He wants only $3000 from the Philadelphia Nationals this year. Pretty good for a youngster.

President Morton of the O. P., has signed Bill Smihk to umpire this year.

Sharon will have the sly player. His name is Thomas Wink. Another Sharonite who promises to make a hit with the fair sex is Coral Guy. Oh, Flossie.

There is no room for noblemen in the American league. Connie Mack has named Lord, and Jim McGuire has no room for Knight.

When Bill Schwartz was with the big boys he played in exactly 23 games, made 13 hits and was released on Friday.

Anyone who can beat this combination will speak up now or forever after hold his peace.

BOWLING

Zanesville beat Newark last night three games. Johnstown played even on six games, two series.

Music Hall team goes to Columbus on Sunday to play the Panhandle team. Tonight the Metal Workers of Zanesville, Ohio, will play the Flicker Club on the Music Hall alleys.

CASE AFTER CASE.

Plenty More Like This in Newark.

Scores of Newark people can tell you about Doan's Kidney Pills. Many a happy citizen makes a public statement of his experience. Here is a case of it. What better proof of merit it can be had than such endorsement?

Amos Frey, Toboso seven miles east of Newark, O., says: "I have been entirely free from kidney trouble since Doan's Kidney Pills cured me over eleven years ago. Prior to that time I suffered severely from pains through the small of my back and loins which were always aggravated by the least exertion. If I sat in one position for any length of time, my back became so sore that I suffered untold misery. I used several remedies, but the relief obtained was slight and I continued to grow worse until I was in a serious condition. I finally read of Doan's Kidney Pills and as they were highly recommended for complaints similar to mine, I procured a box at Crayton's drug store. They acted just as represented, going directly to the seat of my trouble and ridding me of all pain. I have always highly endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills and deem it a pleasure to do so whenever an opportunity presents itself."

The Advocate's Evening Story

CUPID'S STRENGTH.
(By Mayme Yingling, Granville, O.)

Rodney Dare was seated in his luxurious apartments before a glowing fire. His handsome face was lit up by a dreamy smile which reflected itself in his brown eyes. He held a magazine in his hands, yet his thoughts were far away from his reading. He was thinking of beautiful Nellie Sanford and his fingers touched lovingly the rose she had blushing placed in his coat the night before.

Suddenly his dream was interrupted by a servant who entered and announced:

"Mr. Ralph Courtney," Rodney arose and went forward to greet his visitor, who was tall and straight. His piercing black eyes were shaded by long, black lashes, and when he smiled a row of even white teeth was revealed. His manner was one which Rodney had always disliked.

"Well, old fellow!" began Ralph, while a slight frown at his familiarity appeared on Rodney's face. "I just came in to see if you had heard the news."

"News! What News?" asked Rodney, taking a chair and placing one for his visitor.

"Nellie Sanford has been robbed. A number of valuable jewels and a large sum of money was taken."

"Nellie robbed!" exclaimed Rodney in surprise. "When did that happen?"

Ralph Courtney watched him narrowly and with an evil leer in his dark eyes as he answered:

"Last night Miss Sanford retired rather late. About a half hour after she fell asleep, she was suddenly awakened and saw a man just disappearing through her door. She was so frightened she fainted, and by the time she regained consciousness and could rouse the servants, the thief had had ample time to escape."

"Do they have any idea who the thief could be?" asked Rodney.

"Yes, but they hesitate to reveal their suspicions on account of the disgrace it would bring to the person's family. He is a member of high society."

Ralph's tone was so significant that Rodney quickly asked:

"What do you mean?"

"Well, old fellow, I hate to tell you, but you are suspected of this robbery." But Rodney was too amazed and stunned to notice the exultant look which came into Ralph's face at that moment.

"Good Heaven! Am I supposed to have done this deed? Does Nellie suspect me?" he asked hoarsely.

"I don't know, but I think she does."

The reader will perhaps guess Ralph's motive in saying this. He knew Rodney loved Nellie and he thought that she returned that love. He also was in love with her, and was determined to win her at any cost.

For a long time Ralph sat talking to Rodney, trying to persuade him to leave the city, but Rodney was firm. He would stay and face it all, and he knew that somehow he would be proven innocent, and if he were, perhaps Nellie—

But he never dared to think what might happen. For a long time after Ralph left, he sat with his head in his hands, thinking. If Nellie believed him guilty what cared he how many others thought him innocent? Her opinion was all he cared for. Yet he would stay and brave it out and show the world that he was innocent.

Just then a servant entered and handed him a note. It was addressed in a delicate feminine hand, and Rodney's hand trembled when he caught the faint odor of violets which spoke so plainly of Nellie. The note ran:

"Dear Mr. Dare—You have by this time heard of the terrible suspicion which rests upon you. But remember, Rodney, no matter what happens, I shall always believe you innocent, and nothing save your own statement to the contrary could make me believe you guilty.

"Your true friends,"

"Nellie Sanford."

"Thank God!" burst from Rodney's lips as he read that brief missive. He kissed it again and again, and then reverently took both note and rose and placed them in a small note book over his heart.

He had just finished when heavy footsteps came down the corridor. He turned pale as death, then nerved himself to face all.

Two officers entered and he was placed under arrest.

He was taken to a small town near his own home town. He was glad of this, for he felt that he could not bear to see the curious looks and sneering remarks of the people. He was placed in a miserable cell, but he never noticed this. He spent all his time reading over Nellie's note, and thinking of her. He had written to her telling her that he loved her and had meant to ask her to be his wife, but now, unless he was proven innocent, he wanted her to forget him. If all turned out well, he would return for her answer. If otherwise she should forget him.

Could he have seen how Nellie read and reread that letter, and then kissed it, the next moment blushing at her own act, he would have been the happiest man alive.

The weary days dragged on and the morning of the trial dawned. Rodney was taken back to the town where the trial was to take place. He was cheerful because he knew he would see Nellie again. But Nellie was not there. Rodney looked anxiously over the crowded court room, but Nellie's beautiful face did not smile upon him. No blue eyes looked encouragement into his.

Nellie did not love him. Did not even care enough for him to be present at this trial. With a weary, heart-broken sigh, Rodney let his face fall into his hands and longed to die.

At last the jury retired and in one-half hour filed slowly back into their seats. Rodney grew pale as death, and grasped his chair with his hands. Not a sound was heard until the judge's deep voice said:

"Gentlemen of the jury, you have come to some decision. Do you find the prisoner at the bar guilty or not guilty?"

"Guilty."

Rodney started at them for a moment and then turned his face away. But just then came an interruption.

A sweet voice called out, bidding them stay the trial. Rodney looked up and saw Nellie coming forward. When she passed him, she gave him a bright smile and whispered:

"Do not fear, dear Rodney, all will yet be well."

She told a most remarkable story. That morning there had been a fire near her home. The lower part of the building was almost entirely destroyed, but one room, the only room upstairs, was not burned. The firemen had gone up to see the extent of the damage, but could not open that door. They broke it down, and there at a table, stiff in death, was Ralph Courtney. The doctors said he had died of heart disease. On the table before him was a large pile of jewels. Each had the monogram "N. S." They were Nellie's jewels.

Of course her story exonerated Rodney. Cheer after cheer rang through the court room, but Rodney did not hear them. Grasping Nellie's hands and looking down into her sweet face, he said:

"And you did this all for me?"

"Yes, Rodney, all for you."

After Rodney had received the congratulations of all the attorneys he and Nellie were soon in a cab on their way to Nellie's home. Rodney drew her to him and said:

"Nellie, I do not need to tell you how I love you, and I think you care for me, but I want to thank you for your brave and noble actions of today. If I had been proven guilty, people would always have scorned you for caring for a common thief."

"Yes, Rodney, but I did not think of that, dear. I only knew you were innocent, and I must help the one I loved," answered Nellie, and Rodney, drawing her to his heart, breathed a prayer that he might be worthy of the tender and noble heart that had been given to him.

CRUISE AROUND THE WORLD

CHARLES THOMPSON, OF THIS CITY, IN SERVICE OF UNCLE SAM.

Visits Many Foreign Ports and Keeps Log of Trip—Some of the Places Visited.

Mr. Charles Thompson whose home is with his mother, Mrs. Frances Thompson of 125 Elmwood avenue, has returned to Newark after a four years' cruise with Uncle Sam in his armored cruiser, Maryland.

Mr. Thompson enlisted in the navy as a plumber's fitter at Norfolk, Va., on February 8, 1904, and in his travels with his ship, sailed around the world. Mr. Thompson very interestingly entertained the representative of the Advocate with a talk on what he had seen at places that the ship was stationed, and certainly has the best selected souvenirs of his trip that have been shown here for some time by travelers. He also brought some costly presents for his mother and immediate relatives, and as a special mention a set of embroidered Japanese table covers, all worked with gold thread, that is a present to his mother, and is the finest work of this kind ever seen here. Vases made of sections of the bamboo and most delicately carved are also of the rare beautiful things that Mr. Thompson picked up in his tour, but space forbids mention of all the many rare and curious articles that the gentleman is taking pleasure in showing to his friends.

Mr. Thompson made a very comprehensive log of his trip which taken together with the descriptions of the places that he visited, makes very interesting reading, and we sketch from the log and other data as follows:

"Cruise of the U. S. S. Maryland: Ship went into commission at Newport News, Va., on April 18, 1905. Carries a battery of 60 pieces, is 502 feet long, and 78 feet beam, the engines have an indicated horse power of 23,200, speed on trial trip was 22.46 knots, carried a complement of 870 men, and cost four million dollars.

U. S. S. Maryland left Newport News, Va., May 25, and made a northwesterly coastwise trip, going as far north as Boston, and took in en route the various ports, doubled back to the south, laying at Hampton Roads for two weeks, then went via Culebra and Antigua, W. I. to Guantanamo, Cuba, where with the other assembled ships, target practice was indulged in; then the ship was headed for Annapolis, Md., and arrived May 25, having made the trip via New York.

On the first day of June the crew commenced decorating the ship preparatory to receiving from the state of Maryland its silver service. The ceremonies were very impressive, many notables being present. The presentation speech was made by the mayor of the city of Baltimore, and followed by Captain Ingersoll on behalf of the government. The usual refreshments were served and the ship was inspected by the throng of visitors. Two days later, putting down the bay, a draft of men for the Louisiana recently in commission was delivered, and the ship went to the navy yard at New York for light repairs.

The ship then proceeded to Boston, where on July 14 they took on the Massachusetts naval reserves for a practice cruise of ten days along the New England coast. The weather during this trip was delightful and the land-lubbers while they had to work hard, had a good time, and the schooling they received was of great benefit to this arm of the service. The Maryland left in September for her big trip around the world.

arriving at Gibraltar, Spain, in the middle of the month, and laid at this famous fortified port for 10 days, which gave the men ample opportunity to see the sights in the vicinity.

Palermo, Sicily, Pireans, Greece, Port Said, Egypt, and Suez were next visited in rapid succession, and the log gives many interesting occurrences that happened while the ship stayed in these ports, but space here forbids much detail.

Bombay, India, Colombo, Ceylon, Singapore, and Manila were next on the itinerary, and on December 22, 1906, the Maryland dropped anchor at the famous English-Chinese city, Hong Kong, China.

A short description here taken from Mr. Thompson's copious notes will not be out of place:

"After Gibraltar and Quebec, Hong Kong ranks as Great Britain's strongest fortress. It was ceded by China to England in 1841, to be used as a depot for repairing and refitting vessels, and as a place of refuge for distressed seafaring people, and since has become a very important naval base with the best of equipments for rapid outfitting, that any nation has in the far east.

"Under the dual government Hong Kong has become a model city, has fine buildings and wonderful public enterprises among which is the Botanical Gardens, which are probably the finest in the world. Queen's Road is the great center for retail trade. 'Happy Valley,' the pride of the colony, is a vast amphitheater and has a race course and cricket ground in its center. Near by are the English, Jewish, Mohammedan and Parsee cemeteries, and not far away stands a monument dedicated to one of the events in which Americans and Britons stood shoulder to shoulder for a common cause. This shaft of granite stands 60 feet high and bears the following inscription:

"Erected by the officers and crews of the United States frigate Powhatan, and H. B. M. steam sloop Rattler, in memory of their shipmates who fell in a combined attack on a fleet of piratical junks off Kulu-lan, August 4, 1855. Killed in action, Powhatan, John Pepper, landsman; James Halsey, landsman; Isaac Coe, landsman; S. Mullard, marine; B. F. Addams, marine. Rattler: George Mitchell, A. B.; James Silvers, carpenter; John Massey, R. N. A.; M. Oliff, R. A."

From that day to this, no military procession has ever passed the spot without halting, while the band plays "The Star Spangled Banner." "God Save the Queen," and a solemn dirge in memory of the brave fellows who sleep there.

Resuming, the log shows Japan and Chinese ports visited, the Sandwich Islands, and eventually the cruise ended at San Francisco, February 20, 1908, where Mr. Thompson, his time of enlistment having expired, was mustered out. The total distance that the Maryland covered since going into commission was over 21,000 miles.

The ship was well officered and the service was pleasant to Mr. Thompson, and if it were not for family ties here Mr. Thompson would re-enlist at once, but at present is looking for an opening at this place.

An' wuz des ez perlite ez she kin be.

She'd make her house facin' eas' an' wes',
An' den wid eggs she'd fill her nes';
Fer ter keep um warm she'd brood an' set,
An' keep her house fum gittin' wet.
Whiles dis gwine on, Brer Rabbit come by,
A-wigglin' his mouf, an' a-blinkin' his eye:
"De top er de mornin', Miss Bob," sezee;
"De same ter you, Brer Rabbit," se' she.

Sez ol' Brer Rabbit, "I been missin' you long,
I wuz mighty fear'd dat sump'n wuz wrong,
But here you set ez still ez a mouse,
Not doin' nothin' but keepin' house!"
"Oh, well," se' she, "I'm too ol' ter gad,
I use' ter do it, but I wish I never had!
De only thing I want is ter wash my dress,
But I can't do dat whiles I'm on my nes'."

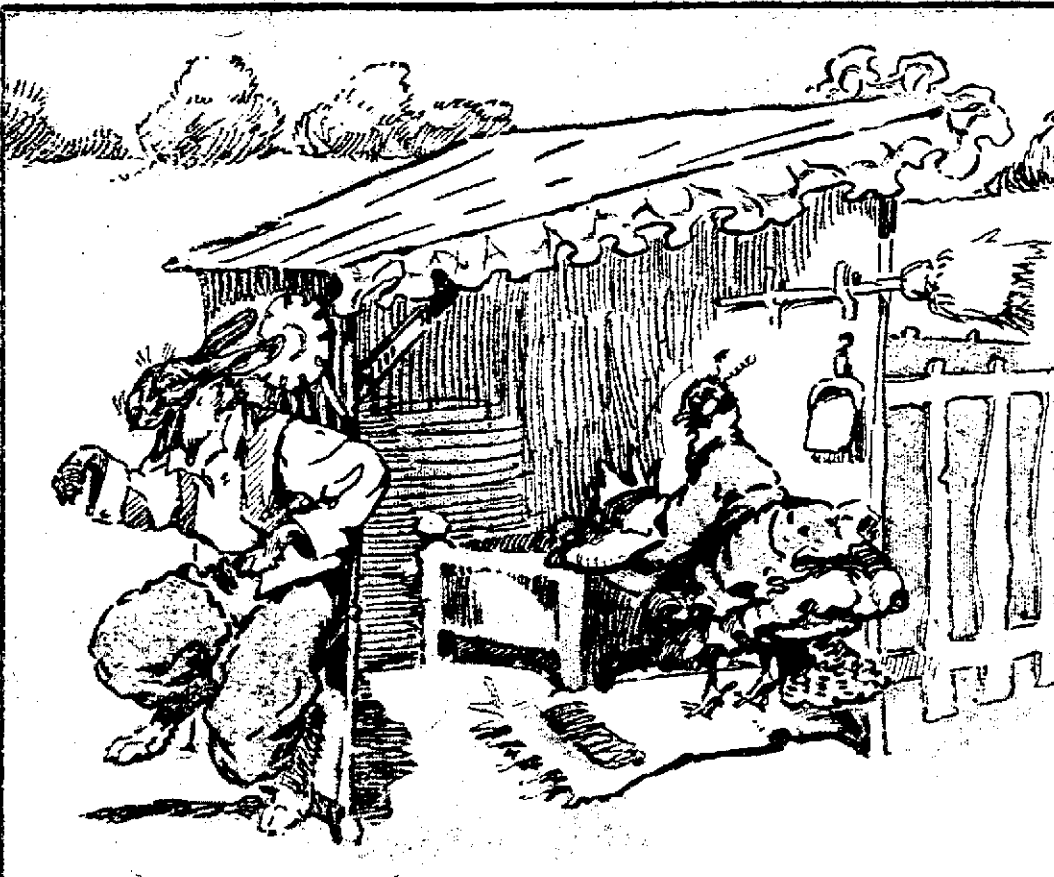

Brer Rabbit, he say, "Can't I he'p you out?
I ain't doin' nothin' but walkin' about,
An' my ol' 'oman is willin' fer ter bet
Dat ef settin' 's de thing, I'm ol' man Set!"
"I know mighty well," sez Miss Bob White,
"Ef you set a-tall, it'll be done right."
"Thanky-do, Miss Bob! Go wash yo' dress,
An' I'll do what I kin fer ter kiver yo' nes'!"

So off she put, wid a flutter an' a flirt,
An' washed her dress in a pile er clean dirt;
Brer Rabbit see de eggs, an' shuck his head;
His mouf 'gun ter dribble, an' his eye turn red;
Sezee, "It'd sholy be hard fer ter match um,
So I'll des take um home an' try fer ter hatch um!"
So said, so done! An' den when he come back,
He come in a gait 'twix' a lope an' a rack.

An' Miss Bob White, atter washin' her dress,
Went a-runnin' back ter house an' nes';
"Much erbleege, Brer Rabbit," an' den she bowed.
"Say nothin', ma'am, fer ter make me proud,
Kaze I been a-waitin' here, frettin' an' sweatin',
Fer fear I ain't sech a good han' at settin';
My ol' 'oman say I got a slow fever,
An' I 'clar' ter goodness, I'm ready ter b'lieve her!"

"I felt sump'n move, I hear' sump'n run,
An' de eggs done gone—dey ain't na'er one!
I sho is seed sights, I done hear folks talk—
But never befo' is I seed eggs walk!"
"My goodness, me!" sez Miss Bob White,
"A-peepin' in de nes', "You sho is right!"
An' y'ever sence den, when darkness falls,
She gives de lost chillun her Good-night calls!"

An' y'ever sence den, when darkness falls,
She gives de lost chillun her Good-night calls!"
